Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas Republican leader of the senate, Wednesday entered the 1928 presidential race. In a letter to Roy L. Boone of Topeka, organizer of the "Curtis for President" club in Kansas the senator wrote that "if my friends of Kansas desire to send a delegation to the next Republican national convention favorable to my nomination, I shall be greatly pleased to be their candidate." The Republican leader in the senate, however, said that he was not going to become a candidate if the delegation is to be selected with the view of voting for me for a few ballots as a "favorite son."

The Kansas is one of the first administration leaders to definitely enter the presidential race since President Coolidge made his announcement last August that he did not choose to run for president next year.

Mr. Curtis was chosen majority leader of the senate three years ago upon the death of Senator Lodge and in that role he has become one of the outstanding Republicans.

Washington. The United States Senate which in history sent only one of its members to the White House will have five active candidates for the presidency. There are seeking the Republican nomination in the primaries in the respective states and two are after the Democratic nomination. On top of this is the candidacy of the president-elect of the senate, Vice-President Dawes.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, and Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader of the senate, are public questioners of thought on public questions. Senator Willis of Ohio, Republican, is one of the outstanding drys of the senate and in a sense may be regarded as the candidate of forces like the Anti-Saloon league.

"DRY" RAIDERS SEIZE 21 KEGS OF "GOOD" BEER

Threaten Arrest of Club Officers and Padlock Proceedings Against Building

BULLETIN
Green Bay.—John Wagner, George Hogreiver and Oscar Kunitz this afternoon were bound over until the afternoon of Nov. 15 when they were arraigned this morning before Federal Court Commissioner Watermolen here. They were released on a $1,500 joint bond signed by C. A. Green, L. O. Hanson, H. M. Rossmessl and C. L. Roemer. The three men were charged with possession and transportation of beer following a raid at the Elk club in Appleton early this morning.

William Knapstein, owner of an alleged home brewery in New London, was bound over for trial on Nov. 15. Mr. Knapstein and four workmen released in the brewery were released on a joint bond of $2,000.

Padlock proceedings probably will be instituted against the Elks club here as the result of a raid at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning when four federal prohibition officers dumped nineteen half barrels and two quarter-barrels of alleged beer on the ground in the rear of the club. The raiders also said all the officers of the club will be arrested. Padlock proceedings will be taken at once, it was said. The federal officers returned to Appleton Tuesday night after raiding the William Knapstein residence at New London, where equipment for complete home brewing business was found in the basement. It was the largest home brewery found in Wisconsin the raiders said.

The raiders here confiscated a small truck owned by Oscar Kunitz from which the beer was unloaded at the club at the time of the raid. The raiders said several charges might be placed against Kunitz, including illegal transportation of liquor, possession of illicit liquor, transferring liquor without a permit, but they had not decided which, if any charges will be filed.

The raiders were P. N. Whisman, Nicholas Annen, Sever Nelson and Ivan Kanchef. They work out of the Milwaukee office.

WATCHING ELKS "We have been watching the Elks club here for six months or more," the spotters said. "Always when we made arrests in the Fox River valley, we heard the complaint that we were avoiding that place. It was common knowledge that the Elks club was serving good beer," one officer said.

Explorer Cancels Engagements by Telegraph in Unexplained Departure

New York.—(AP)—His departure unexplained, Captain Roald Amundsen was on his way to Norway Wednesday leaving behind a cancelled lecture tour and an Explorer's club medal which was to have been awarded him at a banquet in his honor Saturday evening.

"Am sailing today. Sorry I can't be with you," said telegrams sent before he left on the Bergensford, to Lee Koodick, lecture bureau manager, and to Rudolph Kersting, secretary of the Explorer's club.

As a result of Captain Amundsen's departure more than 200 prospective guests and members of the explorers club were notified by wire that the dinner and presentation of the medal had been indefinitely postponed.

Major General A. W. Greely, U. S. A., was to have made a special trip from Washington to deliver the presentation speech. Speakers at the dinner were to have been men famous in exploration and aviation fields, including Commander Richard E. Byrd and his pilot in the north pole flight, Floyd Bennett and Captain Robert A. Bartlett, skipper for Rear Admiral Peary.

Club officials and Mr. Koodick, manager of the lecture tour to have begun next week, said they had received no intimation previous to the telegrams that Captain Amundsen intended leaving America at this time.

SECURITY MAIN ATTACK POINT IN FALL TRIAL

Government Counsel Calls Witnesses to Prove Silence Shrouded Lease

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Holding steadfastly to its line of attack, the government continued Wednesday to produce testimony to show that Albert E. Fall resorted to secrecy in order to turn over to Harry F. Sinclair the navy's Teapot Dome Naval oil reserve.

Calling Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., government counsel in the Fall-Sinclair trial gained from him the statement that he knew nothing of the lease until some time after it was signed. Roosevelt took to President Harding the famous executive order under which administration of the reserve was transferred from the navy to the interior department.

From Frank E. Kistler, president of the Producers and Refiners corporation, a prospective bidder, Owen J. Roberts, special oil counsel, drew testimony that after Fall had promised to notify Kistler if it was decided to lease the reserve, Kistler got his first information that the lease had been consummated from the newspapers.

OFFERED HIGHER BID
Amos L. Beatty, chairman of the board of the Texas Oil company, testified that his company had offered higher terms for the exchange of fuel for crude oil from the reserve, than the Sinclair terms. He also learned first of the lease through the newspapers, and saw "no effort to secrecy" by Fall.

During the session Fall again was active, interrupting Sinclair counsel at one point to suggest the additional question to be asked of witnesses on cross-examination.

At the request of Edwin Denby, then secretary of the navy, Roosevelt had a large hand in framing the instrument and talked over its provisions with Fall, then secretary of the interior. Government counsel sought to obtain through the witness a clear picture of the intent of the document.

While waiting for court to convene Roosevelt stood outside an inner railing of the room. Fall brushed by him, but neither of the former officials of the Harding administration spoke.

When did you first learn of the entire lease of Teapot Dome?" Attorney Roberts asked Roosevelt when he took the stand.

"I learned of that in the latter part of April, 1922." The lease was signed on April 7, 1922.

"Had you any knowledge prior to that time of the intention to lease all of Teapot Dome?"

"I knew there was some intention to drill offset wells in Teapot Dome."

RESERVE OFFICERS TO FIGHT SINISTER MOVES

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Combat of sinister influence of so-called "liberal and progressive" organizations, dissemination of "subversive propaganda" was the keynote sounded at the morning session of the national convention of the Reserve Officers Association of America Wednesday.

Fred R. Marvin, New York, executive director of the Keyway in America, named several organizations which he said were being used for this purpose. He named the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the American Civil Liberties Union, the World Alliance of Friendship through the churches, Associations of university women, National Council for Prevention of War and the foreign relations clubs in colleges and universities.

Communists seek to destroy the government by violence, while Socialists try to destroy it by legislation," Mr. Marvin told the reservists.

Strife Seen In Camp Of Mrs. Grayson And Pilot

Old Orchard, Me.—(AP)—Clouds of doubt were plainly visible Wednesday on the horizon of Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson's projected flight to Copenhagen, as details of a "mutiny" became known and as delay in delivery of a new engine forced postponement of a fourth attempt to get away.

Continuing winds, overloaded gas tanks and, finally, a faulty motor have prevented flights after three starts and the possibility of delay until spring was admitted Wednesday. Mrs. Grayson concluded that it would be impossible for the Dawn to be put in condition before Saturday. A Wright motor which was to have reached here Tuesday from Patterson, N. J., failed to arrive.

Stories of dissension between Mrs. Grayson and her pilot, William Stultz, continued to meet with silence from both principals in the face of reports that Stultz took over command of the plane last Sunday and had turned its nose westward long before engine trouble developed.

According to the version heard here, Mrs. Grayson first discovered that the Dawn was headed back here after the engine had reached the vicinity of Sable Island, N. S. Stultz felt it was hopeless to hold the machine at a sufficient altitude for safety in the face of a heavy fog into which they were running and, accordingly, banked the machine and turned about. Mrs. Grayson, it was said, thought the banking was to gain altitude and only when she glanced at the compass learned that their third attempt was doomed to disappointment.

Subsequently an exhaust valve in the left motor jammed and the Dawn managed to reach home on one and a half motors, as fliers described it.

Wednesday both appeared to be entirely amicable and both refused to say anything further to their previous refusals to discuss the reported difficulty.

Rumanian Crisis Near; Parties Ready For Fight

Bucharest, Rumania.—(AP)—At the least sign of opposition against the government, the Bratiano ministry was ready Wednesday to arrest the leaders and proclaim a state of siege throughout Rumania. Troops were ordered to occupy all government buildings carrying out the state of martial law proclaimed throughout the country upon discovery of the plot to restore former Crown Prince Carol to the throne, which he renounced in 1925 when he eloped to Paris with Magda Lupescu.

The country is seething with excitement as the government and opposition parties line up for what is expected to be a bitter contest for supremacy. Premier Bratiano Thursday will demand from all political groups in parliament a declaration of their attitude toward the present situation. The opposition leaders have summoned their members to appear in full strength. The people's party of which Mr. Manolescu, whose arrest led to discovery of the Carolist plot, is a leader, intends to interpellate the government, considering his arrest unjustified.

(In a statement issued in Paris last week, Prince Carol announced that he would not return to Rumania, except under perfectly regular conditions, adding "there are many ways to call Romania when his return is agreed upon by vote of parliament by a plebiscite and by an understanding between the parties.")

The government declared that Manolescu had gone to Paris and interviewed Carol and sympathized with his aspirations. Manolescu will be court-martialed within a few days. General Averescu is expected to defend his former cabinet minister and it is certain that the latter will be accused of treason.

Princess Helen, whom Carol abandoned, has postponed her departure for Florence, where she intended to go for several months. This postponement was made to avoid the appearance of leaving the country on account of the present crisis.

The boy king, who was celebrating his sixth birthday when the plot was disclosed, is at the summer palace at Sinaia. Queen Marie is with him.

Sheriff Orders Men to Shoot to Kill in Search for Lumberjack

Long Lake.—(AP)—With orders shoot to kill, a posse of 50 armed deputies men were closing in Wednesday morning on a swamp two miles northwest of here where they believe Squire Ritchie, a 22-year-old lumberjack of Popple River who shot and fatally wounded Frank Bastil of Long Lake, Monday night, is in hiding.

Ritchie who shot the 58-year-old farmer on his own doorstep, facing a charge over a rifle, was reported to have been seen in the vicinity of the swamp Tuesday night by a farmer boy. He is believed to be heavily armed and Sheriff Peter Clawson of Crawford, director of the hunt, is taking no chances with the youth who is said to be a desperate character.

All automobiles are being halted and searched by the officials and every road is guarded following a report that Ritchie had planned to flee to Kentucky, his former home, with his two brothers. Long Lake is located on the county line dividing Florence and Forest-co, and Sheriff David of Florence-co with a squad of men are assisting the Forest-co sheriff. Bastil was shot through the forehead and after sheriff deputies had bandaged the wound he was rushed to Laona hospital, but died enroute.

REMOVAL IS SURPRISE TO U. S. ADMIRAL

Magazine Incident Believed Closed When Wilbur Action Is Taken

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The future status of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, critic of navy methods and professed advocate of widespread economies in naval expenditures, remained in doubt Wednesday following notification from Secretary Wilbur that he had been removed from command of the Fourth naval district.

Surprise and speculation were rife among navy men here, especially in view of the fact that the affair related by the admiral's recent magazine article had been declared a closed incident by the secretary himself.

Meanwhile Magruder remained at Philadelphia awaiting the arrival of his successor and preparing for a trip to Washington in response to the summons from secretary Wilbur. He said the secretary's notification which reached him Tuesday night came as a "distinct shock" that he was much attached to his present post and had hoped to remain for his full tour of duty.

His magazine article, which aroused considerable comment, was followed by assertions from the admiral that his purposes had been constructive and that he had not intended to embarrass the navy department in any way.

The defense will use Chicago court records, showing that Stein was involved in a case there, and will introduce testimony to show that at the hour of the robbery he was in the company of his attorney in Chicago.

Further defense testimony will show that Stein, of Stern, affiliated with some shot disburse which prevented his growing a heavy beard such as the bank robber had.

SCHOOL BOOK WAR IS SPREADING TO MILWAUKEE GERMANS

Lawyer Takes Up Cudgel to Remove Alleged Anti-German Books from Schools

Milwaukee—Mayor William Hale Thompson's crusade against all literature aromatic of the British lion may be re-energized by the enlistment of Milwaukee recruits to the cause. Attorney J. P. Beuscher, former president of the Muehlenberg unit of the Steuben Society of America, who changes that pro-British and anti-German textbooks are being used in the Milwaukee public schools, will lead the fight.

At the next meeting of the Muehlenberg unit, Mr. Beuscher says he will introduce a resolution asking that the organization "take such means as it deems advisable to get rid of the literature."

CITES GERMAN POPULATION

In including the alleged anti-German books in its campaign, the local unit has outlined for itself a mission that is difficult, Mr. Beuscher admitted. He said, however, that one-half of the population of Milwaukee is composed of Americans of German blood and they wish to make an emphatic protest against any literature disparaging to their ancestors.

One of the books which Mr. Beuscher decries is used as a textbook in history in the seventh and eighth grades of the public schools. It is "A History of the United States," by Theodore Tilton, which was revised by Frederick L. Paxson, professor of history at the University of Wisconsin.

ONE PASSAGE HE PROTESTS

Mr. Beuscher voices objection to the following passages on page 513 of this book, under the caption, "The Lesson of Belgium."

"Belgium was attacked in cold blood, in spite of treaties written for the special purpose of assuring her and signed by Germany. Old men and women were shot down in the streets of the Belgian towns. Children were murdered. Houses were burned. Able bodied men and women were carried away into slavery in Germany."

LETTER GOLF

A THREE-LETTER ONE
Let's see, how does it go, "as ye sew, so shall ye rip," or something like that? If you can go from SEW to RIP in fewer than four strokes you can beat par. One par solution is printed on Page 2.

TUE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word of common usage for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

LEADERS SCOFF AT RUMORS OF SPLIT IN G. O. P. RANKS

Progressives Gather at La Follette Home to Launch Drive for State Control

Madison—(P)—LaFollette progressive leaders gathered at the farm of their late leader Tuesday and launched their campaign for control of the Wisconsin delegation to the 1928 Republican national convention. Rumors of a split between senators John J. Blaine and Robert M. LaFollette Jr., were scoffed at as the two leaders met together in the conference.

They, with Theodore Kronshage, former president of the board of regents of the state university and Milwaukee attorney; state senator John B. Chase, Oconto, chairman of the state central committee; former Congressman Edward Voigt, Sheboygan, were elected a committee to make arrangements for a meeting to be held in Milwaukee November 15 at which candidates for delegates at large will be selected.

DECREASE SHOWN IN DIPHTHERIA DEATHS

85,000 Wisconsin Children Immunized in Schools of Wisconsin

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin experienced a decline in diphtheria cases in deaths while other states were recording general increases during the first half of 1927, the state board of health announced Wednesday.

In showing how Wisconsin's 1927 record with diphtheria is contrary to the general situation, the board of health pointed out that whereas the average cases for October for the past six years were 437 the number reported from Oct. 1 to 22, 1927, was only 107. The average September record for six years was 200, while September, 1927, the number was only 145.

The mortality side of the record for Wisconsin is also favorable. Up to Sept. 1 last year diphtheria deaths totaled 101; for the same period this year they were 73.

"This is a disease of a variable degree of prevalence, however, and the present low rate in Wisconsin may not continue," the board warned.

Eighty-five thousand Wisconsin children have been immunized against diphtheria and the procedure is continuing in many localities. There are 550,000 children enrolled in public schools, however, so that the decline cannot be ascribed entirely to vaccination.

"In part," the board explained, "this decrease is doubtless due to this immunizing procedure, known as toxo-anthoxin, which protects a child against contracting diphtheria. It must also be remembered that modern methods of handling the disease are more efficient than in the days of its greater prevalence. Schools nurses today find some sore throats and other suspicious signs and take steps early to remove suspects beyond the danger range for other children."

CHARGE ACTING JUDGE KEPT $1,681 IN FINES

SIGHT OR ODOR OF EGGS CAUSES BOY TO BE ILL

Kansas City.—Francis Prewitt, 4, reacts from an egg as if from poison. Sight of an egg causes rash to appear on his skin and to be near any one else who has eaten anything containing eggs makes him actually ill. For more than two years no eggs have entered the Prewitt home.

The case was brought to the attention of physicians during a lecture and clinic conducted by Dr. Lovell F. Barker of Johns Hopkins university. The nature of the boy's ailment was discovered by Dr. W. W. Duke of this city.

Scientifically the disease is eczema caused by a sensitization by eggs. His parents avoid eating in restaurants for fear of partaking of dishes containing eggs. Physicians are hopeful the boy eventually can be cured of his malady to the extent that he may even eat eggs.

$1,681 in fines which he had collected as acting municipal judge and which, it is charged, he had failed to turn over to the city.

He waived reading of the complaint and his preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 9, Judge George L. Blum filing his bond at $2,000.

The defendant served as acting municipal judge for several months during the illness and following the death of the late Judge Henry McBain here, and the embezzlement charged is alleged to have been committed during this time.

Gilbertson was recently tried here on a statutory charge preferred against him by a widow who claimed he was the father of a baby born to her. After some testimony had been taken a settlement was agreed upon, under which the defendant was to pay the woman $50 a month until $800 in all was paid, the case against him being continued until settlement in full had been made.

P. W. Wilson of Green Bay, division passenger and freight agent for the Green Bay division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was a visitor in Appleton Tuesday. Miss Hortense Berens, Kaukauna, visited Sunday and Monday in Chicago.

TAXPAYERS PROTEST CONDITION OF ROAD IN TOWN OF BOVINA

County Board Committee
Says Two Mill Road Tax
Not Sufficient for Work

Unless the county can in some manner raise more than the allotted two mill tax for county highway purposes next year, there will be no funds to repair certain county roads which are in poor shape and which are impassable after heavy rains. It was decided at a joint meeting Monday of the finance, highway and ordinance committees of the county board.

A written protest from residents on one of the highways which at present is scarcely passable, was received by A. C. Brusewitz, highway commissioner, last week. It was signed by 31 taxpayers living on county trunk P, in the town of Bovina. Following is the petition they presented:

"Your subscribers respectfully show that County Trunk P, from Trunk B, east one and three-fourths miles, is in deplorable condition. It has been newly graded with loose dirt and left flat so that no water can drain off, and is now in a practically impassable condition. This condition will continue as fall advances and in the spring the road will be impassable in any portion. We have our crops to get to market this fall and we must receive our mail by rural carrier. This is the only outlet we have for our crops to be marketed and will entail a severe loss to us unless improvements started are completed at once. We therefore urgently ask you to cover this road with crushed stone or gravel immediately."

OTHER BAD ROADS

In addition to this road, it is said that County Trunks M, YX, and several stretches of road in the town of Ononda are in the same condition and the tax payers are ready to protest.

The protests can do no good, however, the committees decided, because the highway funds are exhausted and there is no possibility that the work can be done this year. If the county may not levy more than the two mill tax this year, the total collected will probably be about the same as last year, when $173,000 was raised. This money, however, must be apportioned for county and town aid and for routine highway work and maintenance and none of the now impassable highways will be improved. The highway committee is seeking some way to repair the roads.

APPEAL TAX SUIT

John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, was instructed to take the necessary steps to allow the county to appeal the recent tax suit which was decided in favor of the city of Appleton. The county has 60 days in which to file notice of appeal and the appeal must be made within a year after the notice has been filed. Mr. Lonsdorf was instructed to file the notice and the county board will decide whether the case will be appealed when it meets Nov. 15.

The county zoning ordinance as suggested by the ordinance committee was discussed but no definite decision was reached on set back lines. It was decided to have another meeting with the state highway committee will be invited to attend. Members of the joint committees decided it would be best to find out what set back distances were favored by the state before a recommendation is made to the county board.

Organization of counties through the boards of supervisors to assist in changing duplicate names of lakes, and make better secondary roads, especially those leading to lake resorts. Accrediting of resorts and hotels. A concerted effort to be made next year for membership in all parts of the state in the hopes of building up an organization strong enough to secure an appropriation of $20,000 to advertise the advantages of the state as a playground for the nation.

WATER POLLUTION KILLS FISH IN "LITTLE LAKE"

Destruction of fish in Little Lake Butte des Morts is imminent unless steps are taken immediately to stop dumping of mill refuse into the water, it was said Wednesday by fishermen. For several days a skum of oil and soot has been covering the water and fish are coming up gasping for air. It is feared if the water pollution is continued a few more days fish will die by the thousands. Samples of the skum have been taken by persons along the lake and they are to be sent to the state laboratories in Madison for analysis. Fishermen say fishing in the Little Lake this year was the best in years. There has been an abundance of perch and they are unusually large. But they fear fish life will be entirely destroyed unless water pollution is stopped at once.

CONSIDER PLANS TO ENLARGE SCOUT AREA

W. Waldo Shaver, formerly of Herrin, Ill., deputy regional boy scout executive, is in Appleton consulting with Milo G. Clark, valley executive, about organization work in this district and planning future work. The major problem will be to lay plans for a district council which will include Outagamie-co and several cities to the northwest and south of the county. Mr. Shaver will be present at the meeting of the Appleton district committee of boy scout Thursday evening at the Post-Crescent building. Mr. Shaver was connected with boy scout activities at Herrin when a tornado swept through the district a few months ago. He told members of two Menasha troops Tuesday evening of the work scouts performed at that time, aiding in identification, doing police duty, carrying dispatches and running a laundry to keep the hospitals and doctors supplied with clean garments and equipment.

BADGER BRIEFS

BLAZE OF COLOR AS LEGION FROLIC OPENS

Style Show One of Interesting Features at First Program of Harvest Festival

With a blaze of color, and a burst of autumnal scenery, the harvest frolic and industrial display of the Onsey Johnston post of the American legion, got under way Tuesday night in the Armory. The frolic is to continue for four afternoons and evenings, ending Saturday, October 29. The style show was up to expectations. A group of pretty models displayed new fall and winter creations, to music by "Zachie" Moore's recording orchestra, which later played for dancers at the frolic. The frolic opened with a fantasy. "What the old crow saw one harvest eve." The dances were executed by a pupil of the Hagerly school, Green Bay, and the program included a clever ventriloquist number. "Massoput" also entertained with a variety of sleight of hand tricks, the act being entitled "Now you see it—now you don't."

Later in the evening Beatrice Bosser presented a novelty dance, "Fush me, push me," accompanied by the Moore orchestra. The industrial booths, lining the large Armory floor were tastefully decorated in the harvest idea, with pumpkins, corn stalks, and other autumnal impediments much in evidence. The baby show, which will result in the selection of "Baby Appleton," will get under way Wednesday afternoon, and will continue every afternoon this week. The style show will be repeated in connection with other entertainment features of the frolic program. The style display is being supervised by the J. F. Bannister dancing academy.

NEW PAMPHLETS TO AID SCOUTS IN MERIT WORK

Seven new pamphlets recently have been published and will aid Boy Scouts in merit badge work, according to Milo G. Clark, valley scout executive. They are available through the editorial department of the scout movement. The new pamphlets are on journalism, reptile study, salesmanship, safety, camping, aviation and weather. Each booklet contains an outline of the requirements for merit badges in the work and also gives an outline of general information on the subjects.

A monopoly to control the sale, manufacture, cultivation and importation of tobacco in the Free City of Danzig has been established by agreement between the city and the Polish government.

KEEP STOMACH YOUNG!

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and can't digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes these poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and despondent, because your system is not nourished—you lose weight.
Pape's Diaperin dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy.
Chew a tablet or two of Pape's Diaperin after meals. It tastes good, and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want without being afraid of the consequences.

OFFER 2 SITES FOR LUTHERAN SEMINARY

Fond du Lac Lutherans Offer Tracts of Land for Ministerial School

Fond du Lac Lutherans have offered two sites for the seminary of the Evangelical Lutheran synod of Wisconsin and other states now located at Wauwatosa. It has become known.

The offer was made formally by a delegation from Fond du Lac before a joint committee of the synod. Particulars were withheld pending possible action, but it is understood that each site contains about twenty acres of land in what are considered suitable locations. Either site is available to the synod without cost for a seminary.

LARGER SITE SOUGHT
The seminary prepares for the ministry graduates of Northwestern college, Watertown, and other institutions. A new location is sought where larger campus will be available for tennis courts, a baseball diamond and other outdoor facilities.

A site purchased some years ago for a new location was recently sold to a real estate development company. This property was on Villet street just inside the city limits of Wauwatosa, and the price offered was such that the synod felt justified in selling.

SITES ARE INSPECTED
Several Milwaukee sites are being considered. The Fond du Lac delegation accompanied the committee on a tour of inspection of these sites. Among these locations are one at Thiensville, where an eighty acre farm is available, and smaller properties on Capitol drive and State Trunk Highway 10, near New Butler. Property on a lake near Waukesha also has been offered as a possible site, but the two Fond du Lac sites and one at Baraboo are the only ones offered without cost to the synod. The Rev. John Brenner of Milwaukee is chairman of the building committee working in conjunction with the joint committee.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work
This week we are considering situations in which many players would be in doubt as to whether a double should be interpreted as business or informatory. Ten such situations were given on Monday, and two are answered and explained each day. Today we will consider Nos. 3 and 4.
No. 3. South one Heart, West one Spade, North pass, East pass, South two Hearts, West double.
No. 4. South one Heart, West double, North two Hearts, East pass, South three Hearts, West double.
No. 3. West's double was business; if he had wished to double Hearts informatorily he should have done so on the first round. Having once refused an opportunity to double Hearts, his subsequent double of Hearts is business according to the rule. When West doubled two Hearts on the second round, East—if he treated West's double as informatory—would have to answer with two Spades, three Diamonds or three Clubs. There is no reason why West would wish to force his partner to so high an answer when he did not call for a cheaper answer on the first round; but there may be a very good reason for West to double Hearts for business.
No. 4. This double is informatory; West's first double was obviously informatory although perhaps not as obviously so. West has not refused an opportunity to double Hearts; East has not bid or doubled, and three Hearts is not above the informatory limit. If South had bid four Hearts on the second round and West had doubled, his double would have been business because a bid of four is outside of the informatory doubling limitation.
Are West's doubles informatory or business in the following two situations? Answers tomorrow.
No. 5. South one Heart, West double, North two Clubs, East pass, South two Diamonds, West double.

Wandering Jew Visits In City On Way To Marinette

Joseph Leon Lazarowitz, "A No. 2 Hobo," known as the "The Wandering Jew" and the "World's Champion Jewish Hobo," passed through Appleton Tuesday. Lazarowitz has visited 45 states and 7 foreign countries in the eight years since he left his home in Brooklyn, N. Y. He now is 32 years of age and he has traveled since he was 14. He was born in Rumania.
The name, A No. 2 Hobo, is copyrighted and cannot be used by any other knight of the road. The Jewish traveler took the title as the next best to A No. 1 Hobo, which already had become famous. He is visiting 49 Wisconsin cities with populations of 5,000 or more and he still has 7 to visit. They are Antigo, Manitowish, Marinette, Sturgeon Bay, Rhinelander and Two Rivers.
After a visit to northern Wisconsin, Lazarowitz will return to Milwaukee and six weeks later he will leave for England. He carries redentials to prove he is a hobo and is exempt from work. He travels by begging rides from autoists, "riding the rods" or by appealing to fellow Jews for funds if necessary.

The hobo is getting atmosphere for a book, which he will call Life of a Wandering Hobo, and he will dedicate it to the "hoboes of the world." In each city he visits he gets the postoffice cancellation mark in a notebook as a record of his stay. He has filled 15 notebooks with the cancellation marks since he started his travels.

EUROPEAN UNREST IS EXPLAINED BY Y. M. C. A. SPEAKER

Dr. Simpson Says Paris
"Peace" Conference Is Breeding War

The Paris peace conference which met in Paris in 1919 to decide on the terms of peace, the division of territory in post-war Europe and to fix the amount that Germany should pay, should perhaps not be described as the Paris peace conference, but the Paris war conference, Dr. Edwin Simpson, pastor of the First Baptist church, Green Bay, told his listeners Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. lobby. Dr. Simpson, who recently returned from a European tour with the Sherwood Eddy party, spoke on "Europe's War-Danger Zones."

The party made a study of European economic conditions and Dr. Simpson was enabled to get an insight into the grievances of various countries of Europe against divisions made in the treaty after the World war. He spoke here under the auspices of the Y's Mens club and he will return for five more public forums. The next, on Monday evening, Nov. 14, will be on England, Its Labor Unions and Labor Parties.

Clemenceau, "The Tiger" of France, in this conference entirely forgot justice, and is seeking security for France fought with a tiger's ferocity to cripple the enemies of France, the speaker said. He sought to cripple Germany and Bulgaria and practically annihilate the Austro-Hungarian empire, according to Dr. Simpson. "In 1919 Clemenceau said, 'The coming world war will begin in the Balkans. Unless great care is exercised, now more restless and dissatisfied than ever, because of transfers and divisions of territory made in the Paris Peace conference."

NO SINGLE GUILT

"The sole guilt clause of the peace treaty, making Germany solely responsible for the war, was unfair," Dr. Simpson declared emphatically. The war clouds are clearing in the West but conditions in the East keep these clouds heavy, threatening and low. England, separated by 21 miles or more of water, is less concerned than France or perhaps it would be more correct to say she is more concerned for the welfare of all Europe.

Many in America felt that Great Britain should stand behind France, her ally, guaranteeing security for her. Great Britain's diplomatic insight led her to do a far wiser thing, to wait until France and Germany got together in Locarno, Switzerland, in 1925, and signed the famous Locarno Pact, which came in force in 1926, each country pledging never to go to war over their international boundary. Had Great Britain backed France against Germany only, she would have made France the military boss of Europe, which Clemenceau wanted, which Poincaré still wants, the folly of which is clear to France's great international statesman, Aristide Briand. Had Britain backed France and made her boss in Europe, she would have driven Germany to red Russia.

DISLIKES BOUNDARY

Germany with evident sincerity accepts, in perpetuity, her western boundary, but she most emphatically declares she will not accept her eastern boundaries. Six members of the Reichstag, speaking to the Sherwood Eddy men in answer to questions, all made that statement. The conference set up the Republic of Poland on the east, carving it out of Germany, Hungary and Russia. Most of this territory was administered by Russia after 1861. Of course, Germany and Russia resent their loss.

"Worst of all," Dr. Simpson said, "the conference opened the so-called Danzig Corridor, a strip of land 120 miles long and 20 miles wide, through Germany, giving Poland a seaport on the Baltic and dividing Germany in two parts. All east and west bound trains in Germany are compelled to stop for customs examination. What would Americans say if a conference of nations should open for Canada a corridor 20 miles wide from Montreal to New York and compel all trains to stop, Twentieth Century included, for an hour or more for customs examination at such a corridor. This would be a war zone in America. There is danger that it may be a war zone in Europe. Germany does not say she will go to war, but she does say she will insist on re-examination and readjustment of the eastern boundaries."

"Austria-Hungary before the war had a combined area of 261,000 square miles. The peace conference, getting square with the Hapsburg autocrats, left them a combined area of 55,000 square miles. It lost to Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugoslavia, practically all of its agricultural lands, its seaports on the Adriatic, fully three-fourths of its industries and almost all of its home markets. Austria cannot 'make the grade.' Hungary has a little more agricultural territory and may be able to 'carry on.' Hungary resents the big slice of her territory given to Rumania. Austria resents the territory given to Jugoslavia and Italy. An Austrian asked the Sherwood Eddy party, 'How would America feel if half of Texas were arbitrarily given to Mexico? This is a danger zone.'

A MELTING POT

Czechoslovakia, carved from Austria-Hungary, Germany, Russia, Poland, with her 3,000,000 restless, dissatisfied Germans who want to be in Germany, her Hungarians, her 3,000,000 Jews, her thousands of Ruthenians who would be independent, is, many think, a real war-danger zone. This republic extends from Germany into Russia. A "melting pot" is needed here. President Masaryk, considered by many one of Europe's ablest statesmen, was re-elected last May to a second term as president. The constitution specifies a seven-year term and prohibits a second term. Citizens felt the need great enough to set aside, for this grand old man, this prohibition. Switzerland for a hundred years has held together equally diverse peoples and languages, the Italian, the French, the German. If Czechoslovakia can hold together, in peaceful administration, her diverse elements, she will go a long way toward keeping and promoting the peace of Eastern Europe."

Paris Liquor Too Mild For American Visitors

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

Paris—Some Americans admittedly come to Paris to get a good drink. Others do not let a good drink stand in their way while here. But strangely enough, during this busy tourist year, quite a few Americans have been going home without having what they call a "good drink."

These are the serious drinkers of prohibition America. In Paris they could get almost anything they wanted, night or day, but there wasn't any thrill in getting it. Talk of bootleggers and speakeasies with new acquaintances seemed to fall flat. Something of the familiar zest of drinking was lost.

MUCH TOO MILD
And to these the alcoholic wares of Paris were disappointing. The stuff here didn't carry that old kick. The whiskey was too smooth and cognac not sufficiently compelling. Still wines and champagnes were something they knew little about and cared less. Men were heard to say they wanted a man's drink.

It is true that the smooth stuff often proved deceiving and exercised quite an astonishing authority, but in general the hosts of Paris found themselves outclassed in drinking capacity by the "visiting firemen" from the big towns back home. The visitors had been trained in a harder school, and quite a number of them have been just as glad to go back to good American drinks as they were to good American cooking.

BUYING IMPLEMENTS

Another sidelight on prohibition was seen in the articles purchased by Americans to take back home as precious souvenirs from Paris. A survey conducted by Mike, Marjorie Olette, inquiring feminine reporter of the International Barflies association, reports a record registration of new members during the fortnight that the Legionnaires were here. He signed up over 600 enthusiastic drinkers, including his honor, the mayor of New York. This figure surpasses any other registration over such a period and brought the total number of Barflies up to 8,000. Since it costs 10 francs to become a Barfly these members paid about $250 for the little luxury of being enrolled.

PRaises Legion Men

And Harry adds: "I never have seen a better behaved company of men than the Legionnaires. They drank like gentlemen and we never had a single fight or a serious quarrel during the busy convention period. Everybody had a good time and everybody seemed happy."

Out of the convention has come the "I Never Heard of It" cocktail. As Legionnaires gathered together in social hours they naturally asked each other where they came from. When obscure cities and towns were named the response would be, "I never heard of it." This was repeated so often that it practically became the slogan of the Paris convention. But Harry's cocktail considerably improved the geographical knowledge of the United States.

17 FIRES REPORTED IN CITY DURING SEPTEMBER

A total of 17 fires with a loss estimated at $5,462.64 occurred during September, according to the monthly report of Louis McGillan, inspector at the Appleton fire department. The department extinguished three rubbish fires and two blazes were reported in automobiles as the result of short circuits. Sparks from chimneys caused two fires and cigarettes were responsible for two fires. The department was called to extinguish one chimney fire, and to one home where escaping smoke was thought to be from a fire. Each of the following were the cause of one call: gas range set fire to floor; chimney fire; spontaneous combustion; short circuit on light pole; gasoline; incendiary; unknown.

The entrants sing over the radio in a state contest and the winners advance to a sectional contest and so through to a national contest.

EXTEND ELECTRICAL EDUCATION COURSES

Work Will Be Supervised by University; Use Demonstration Trucks

Milwaukee—(P)—The University of Wisconsin plans to extend its electrical education work among farmers of the state. Prof. F. W. Duffee, secretary of the Wisconsin committee on the application of electricity to agriculture said in his report of the committee's meeting to the Wisconsin public utilities association.

Although this work is to be done by the university, Prof. Duffee believed that electrical information service to farmers must largely be carried on by the electric companies.

He said, in submitting his report: "Next year the college of agriculture will send out demonstration trucks, carrying the latest, best and most practical electrical equipment. All of the equipment will be in readiness for operation."

"Thus an opportunity will be afforded farmers and their wives to see for themselves just what electricity can do for them, just what it will cost for the various operations, and how to arrange, install and handle electrical equipment to secure the best results."

"We also intend to issue bulletins setting forth the data that is collected on the Electro-Test farms."

"We are planning to conduct a three to five day school for utility employees, specializing in rural electric service, and intend to augment our staff with the best available experts in the various lines."

Entires are restricted to persons who intend to follow music as a career, have never sung as a professional and are not under contract to sing. Appleton entries have been instructed to report at radio station WTMJ, Milwaukee, on Oct. 30 or 31.

So Sweet and Clean Inside!
No Offensive Vapors
From the Pores

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered. It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But when you cascade the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascara is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascara tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

NEW YORK—In a season of formality and specialization in styles, when elegance and novelty are at a premium, there is one type of frock that is dear to the heart of the woman who values good grooming.
It is the "little dress," as Paris calls it. Designed primarily as an informal evening gown, this dress appears simple but achieves it through complicated construction. Drapes, tiers, puffs, boleros and other chic seasonal touches are all subordinated to simplicity.
"Nothing 'tricky' about them."
No exaggerated trains, flares, ornate trimmings or unique décolletage mark these gowns.
The "little dress" is the easily worn, always charming dress that can slip into a formal or an informal group with the same social ease. It has authority without being bizarre. Moreover, it is the pet of the flapper, the woman of middle years and her more mature sisters.
I show today three versions of the "little dress." The white velvet frock I designed as the fourth evening gown in the wardrobe of a debutant. It emphasizes the slender silhouette but has ample fullness by flared insets.
UNEVEN HEMLINE'S SOFT EFFECT
No ornate trimming complicates this dress. It has gold bowknots in gold bugles scattered gracefully from the shoulder, diagonally across the gown to the hip-line where the flares emerge. An uneven hemline softens lines of the dress and a loose scarf which finishes the left shoulder, velvet enhances its graceful qualities.
It is charmingly feminine in the "little dress" of black and silver polka dotted velvet, a Chanel frock. The new short sleeve and a back bolero faced with silver cloth give it youthful swank and its uneven hemline, swathed hip-line and simple neck add grace and charm.
Velvet, in fact, is one of the most popular media for the "little dress." One I do not show today is a charming creation in aspen green velvet, elegant with square neck from which a double jabot of cream real lace tapers to a swathed hip-line which is emphasized by a trim tailored belt with a gorgeous square belt buckle of real pearls and diamonds set in green gold.
BLACK MOST POPULAR
Black, however, is the most popular color for the "little dress." For black, whether it be lace, satin chiffon or velvet, has the desirable quality of timelessness. Moreover, means is smarter than black. And last, and most important, a black dress offers opportunity for variation in the kind of jewels, accessories and color touches one uses.
The third "little dress" shown today illustrates the most popular combination of materials this season, velvet and chiffon. Its color is the soft café-au-lait that positively reigns as a favorite.
This frock has been one of my most popular importations this fall. It features the new armor bodice, an elongated bodice that takes its cut from the days of the Crusaders when armor was worn by all the best-dressed men.
VELVET BODICE, FLARE, CHIFFON
The bodice is of velvet, formed of two circular pieces and the yoke and circular flare of chiffon carry out the rounded cut of the bodice.
The yoke and flares are of chiffon, in matching shade and make the whole effect lighter and more graceful. The only ornament is a soft, silken flower of deeper tones of tan which is caught just below the left hip, at the peak of the flare's point.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE day horse that the Times made was fine and they were not afraid to crawl inside and play around. Tvas safe as safe could be. In making it, of course, they knew that windows let the light stream through. And so they built two windows so they all could play it.
A word—ous home, wee Carpi said. "Let's get some grass and make a bed. We'll make it very snug so we can sleep real well at night."
"A grass bed?" cried all the bunch. "We're mighty glad you had that bunch!" They all ran to run for grass and soon were out of sight.
The grass was found, and look they came. "Oh, my!" said one. "It is a ham we have!" are pillows, and the ground is damp and cold." Then Corpy said, "Don't fume and fret. I'll make some pillows, you can't see. And soon grass that he had rolled.
Said Cleopay, "When the cold wind blows, well, but in life for see now."

PEOPLE SEE THEMSELVES AS LOVERS

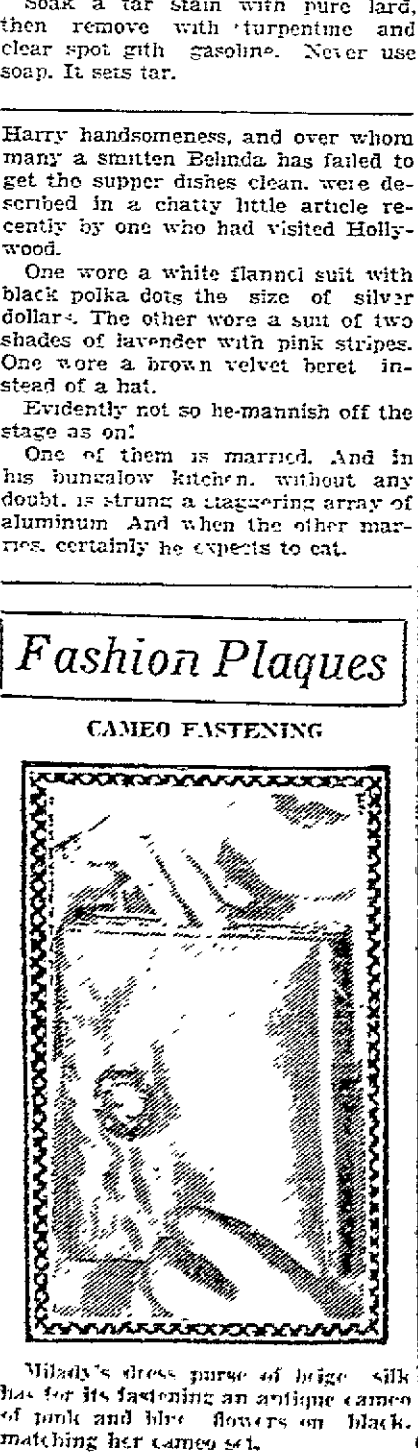

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
CATHERINE WILLINGTON GIBBS, 27, writes a story of a girl who is the third of a desperate love affair with a movie star.
Incidentally she was engaged to a young young fellow in her own town and was a sweetheart. He had been a star, but he thought it was a good idea to go to Hollywood and make a name for himself. SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin
Two mornings later, Cherry, before leaving for the office, dashed into her bedroom, where her sister had just started to bathe the baby. Little Hope was writhing muscularly on Faith's hip, protected by a big, fleecy Turkish towel.
"Oh, the precious!" Cherry gurgled, dropping to her knees to rub the apple-cheeked cheek against the downy pink cheek of her baby. "She's getting positively fat, Faith!"
"She really needs more sunlight," Faith frowned, but her eyes were glowing with love for both of those bright-headed bits of femininity. "I'm so busy with housework and cooking that I don't have time to take her for the long jaunts in her perambulator that I feel she needs."
"Look! She's grinning at me! And she actually winked as if she meant it, the funny little monkey!" Cherry laughed. "I've got to run, darling, but I was just wondering if you'd do me a most tremendous favor. You know it's been an age since I've been on a real party, honey, and tonight—" "I'll take care of the baby," Faith promised. "Who is the man?"
"You're clever," Cherry grinned. "It's Bruce Patton. There's a new dancing club just opened—members only. Aren't you getting to be a regular New York? And—" "So it's 'Bruce' already, is it?" "Darling, you are mid-Victorian!" Cherry caught her sister's hand that was reaching for soap and brushed it lightly with her lips. "I'll promise to be awfully good and home by one o'clock—two at the very latest. But Bruce is going to teach me some new dance steps. He's really a marvel, Faith. I'll bring you a set of his lessons, if you like. They're good, honestly. And I'll help you get the trick of the hard ones—" "Thanks," Faith said sarcastically. "I have so much time and opportunity to dance these days. You'd better teach Bob, and see if you can get him into the notion of going out at least once a week. I sometimes feel as if my whole life is bounded by the walls of this house. Of course, it's a nice house. Poor Faith! Marriage is the very devil, no matter how much you love the man, isn't it? But listen, darling, I haven't a thing to wear, unless you'll be a Good Samaritan and clean and press that black chiffon-and-rhinestone evening dress of mine. I want to look rather special tonight—" "I was going to make a cocoanut angel cake for dinner," Faith demurred. "But—I'll do the dress. Maybe I'll manage to squeeze in the cake too. Bob loves angel cake—" "I like devil's food best," Cherry grinned impudently. "Goodbye Hope, you precious, dimply thing! I saw the most ravishing little coat for her at that new Baby Shop, Faith—" "I'm making her one myself," her sister interrupted firmly. "We can't afford to buy ready-made coats for a tiny baby. Now, please don't be foolish tonight, Cherry. Every time you get a new man I live in the most dreadful suspense. Be content with—dancing, darling."
NEXT: Cherry's new affair progresses alarmingly.

CROWD AIRWAYS

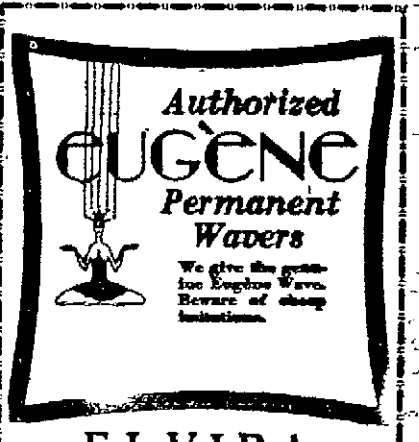

Washington—The first survey of the nation's civil airplane routes shows that 395,648 passengers were carried during the first six months of 1927. During that time 12,777,933 miles were covered. Only 2,642,364 miles of that distance lay along regular air lanes, however.

WHAT THE PUSSYCAT MEANS WHEN HE GOES "MIAOU!"

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Author of "A Parent's Guide to Children's Reading," etc.
I'VE no idea what the statistics are but I feel sure they are very large concerning the number of homes in which there are cats. Apart from the perpetual interest evinced by cats in mice, they are beloved pets of many people, so with news of books dealing with cats it almost seems as though this article should begin with a little ex-lamatory sentence such as "Purr, purr, purr!"
A most amusing volume is called "A Cat Book" (Harper & Brothers.) Pat Sullivan does the illustrations, and there are verses by E. V. Lucas. These verses do not laud the cat. Rather do they, like many present-day biographies, expose of faults of their subject matter. There is a singularly funny picture showing the cat as he miaows at night. Yes, there are all those vowels in that word. No doubt the author felt there should be so as to describe these sounds, for he says that the cat "miaou in twenty thousand different styles," and Pat Sullivan shows the most rake looking man at a window, every joint, muscle, detail of expression, tried almost beyond endurance. Both the pictures and verses will amuse children and other members of the family.
The "Lion-Hearted Kitten" is the first of a number of stories contained in a book of that title written and illustrated by Percy Bacon (The Macmillan Co.) The other stories are of other animals and the book makes a nice reading, about volume to little children at the close of the day.
"The Cat and the Captain," by Elizabeth J. Costworth, illustrated by Gertrude Kite (The Macmillan Co.) is entirely for real cat lovers. Here the cat's emotions, thoughts, ideas, are described, and the cat is a real person in literary circles now. His captain is a young person—the cook as amusing in her mannerisms as could be and the plot is of cleverness and assistance in the end of the book will more than satisfy all his enthusiasts.
This is quite a delicious book, full of humor, written with that ease and perspicacity that makes real cats. There is even a stuffed character in the book—Fanny. He had been a pet parrot of the captain's and when he concluded in days of life the captain

THIS HAS HAPPENED

A woman's gloves and handbag are found at the scene of Benson's murder. Upstairs are found the loupes and false teeth of the murdered man. Mrs. Platz, in answer to Vance's question, tells him Benson, who had been shut, had kept a revolver in a table drawer.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

"Full," Heath announced laconically. An expression of tremendous relief spread over the woman's features, and she sighed audibly. Markham had risen and was looking at the revolver over Heath's shoulder. "You'd better take charge of it, Sergeant," he said, "though I don't see exactly how it fits in with the case." He resumed his seat, and glancing at the notation Vance had given him, turned again to the housekeeper. "One more question, Mrs. Platz. You said Mr. Benson came home early and spent his time before dinner in this room. Did he have any callers during that time?" "I was watching the woman closely, and it seemed to me that she quickly compressed her lips. At any rate, she sat in her chair before answering. "There wasn't no one, as far as I know." "But surely you would have known if the bell rang," insisted Markham. "You would have answered the door, wouldn't you?" "There wasn't no one," she repeated with a trace of sullessness. "And last night did the doorbell ring at all after you had retired?" "No, sir." "You would have heard it, even if you'd been asleep?" "Yes, sir. There's a bell just outside my door, the same as in the kitchen. It rings in both places. Mr. Benson had it fixed that way." Markham thanked her and dismissed her. When she had gone, he looked at Vance questioningly. "What idea did you have in your mind when you handed me those questions?" "I might have been a bit presumptuous, I know," said Vance; "but when the lady was extolling the deceased's popularity, I rather felt she was overdoing it a bit. There was an unconscious implication of antithesis in her eulogy, which suggested to me that she herself was not ardent admirer of the gentleman." "And what put the notion of firearms into your mind?" "That query," explained Vance "was a corollary of your own questions about barred windows and Benson's fear of burglars. If he was in a funk about house-breakers or enemies, he'd be likely to have weapons at hand—eh, what?" "Well, anyway, Mr. Vance," put in Heath, "your curiosity unearthed a nice little revolver that's probably never been used." "By the bye, Sergeant," returned Vance, ignoring the other's good-humored sarcasm, "just what do you make of that nice little revolver?" "Well, now," Heath replied, with ponderous facetiousness, "I deduct that Mr. Benson kept a pearl-handled Smith and Wesson in a secret drawer of his center-table." "You don't say—really?" exclaimed Vance in mock admiration. "Testively aluminatin'!" Markham broke up this rallery. "Why did you want to know about visitors, Vance? There obviously hadn't been anyone here." "Oh, just a whim of mine. I was assailed by an impulsive yearning to hear what LaPlatz would say." Heath was studying Vance curiously. His first impressions of the man were being dispelled, and he had begun to suspect that beneath the other's debonair exterior there was something of a more solid nature than he had at first imagined. He was not altogether satisfied with Vance's explanations to Markham, and seemed to be endeavoring to penetrate to his real reasons for supplementing the district attorney's interrogation of the housekeeper. Heath was astute, and he had the worldly man's ability to read people; but Vance, being different from the men with whom he usually came in contact, was an enigma to him. At length he relinquished his scrutiny, and drew up his chair to the table with a spirited air. "And now, Mr. Markham," he said crisply, "we'd better outline our activities so as not to duplicate our efforts. The sooner I get my men started, the better." Markham assented readily. "The investigation is entirely up to you, Sergeant. I'm here to help whenever I'm needed." "That's very kind of you, sir," Heath returned. "But it looks to me as though there'd be enough work for all parties. . . . Suppose I get to work on running down the owner of the hand-bag, and send some one out scouting among Benson's night-life cronies—I can pick up some names from the housekeeper, and they'll be a good starting point. And I'll get after that Cadillac, too. . . . Then we

An Asset to the Public Welfare

From the days of axle grease for wagons down to the present era of anti-knock gasoline for high compression motors and aviation gasoline and oil, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken the lead.

This Company has endeavored at all times to anticipate mechanical progress. By so doing it has been able to render signal assistance in the development of mechanical ideas.

By introducing Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline to the motorist of the Middle West, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) did a major service in hurrying forward the development of the high compression motor, which gives increased gasoline mileage—a direct benefit to the 30 million people of the Middle West.

Long ago this Company anticipated the present rapid development of aviation, and when the need arose for special gasoline and fuel, it was ready with proved products—tried and found good.

The mechanical progress which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has aided and anticipated is only important as it touches human life, for that is the ultimate universal goal of which this Company is always conscious.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the success of an industrial institution is determined by its contribution to the public welfare. It owes its own successful growth to an active creed of service.

In three distinct ways this Company has proved itself an asset to the public welfare. It has provided petroleum products of sustained high quality for the people of the Middle West—when and where needed—at minimum prices. It has employed to the fullest possible advantage the capital of the more than $9,000 stockholders. It has utilized the time and ability of 29,000 employees for the good of all concerned.

Scientific elimination of waste, able management, and the efficiency made possible by quantity production, enable the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to reward satisfactorily stockholders and employees (thousands of whom are also stockholders) for their investments of money and labor.

Within the organization this Company has contributed very directly to human welfare, instituting the Death Benefits Plan, Annuity Plan, Industrial Relations Plan and Stock Purchasing Plans for the benefit of its employees.

Thus in ways direct and indirect the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has promoted the public welfare and the nation's progress.

While it takes a pardonable pride in the progress of the past, this Company is not satisfied. It is always stretching forward—moving on to new achievements. Daily it strives for improvement—seeking to bring life "nearer to the heart's desire" for its vast army of workers, seeking to serve the 30 million people of the Middle West with wider vision and greater skill.

ought to look into his lady friends—I guess he had enough of 'em." "I may get something out of the major along that line," supplied Markham. "He'll tell me anything I want to know, and I can look into Benson's business associates through the same channel." "I was going to suggest that you could do that better than I could," Heath rejoined. "We ought to run in to something pretty quick that'll give us a line to go on. And I've got an idea that when we locate the lady he took to dinner last night and brought back here, we'll know a lot more than we do now." "Or a lot less," murmured Vance. Heath looked up quickly, and grunted with an air of massive petulance. "Let me tell you something Mr. Vance," he said, "since I understand you want to learn something about these affairs: when anything goes seriously wrong in this world, it's pretty safe to look for a woman in the case." "Ah, yes," smiled Vance. "C'est la femme—an aged notion. Even the Romans labored under the superstition—they expressed it with Dux femina facti." "However they expressed it," retorted Heath, "they had the right idea. And don't let 'em tell you different." Again Markham diplomatically intervened. "That point will be settled very soon, I hope. . . . And now, Sergeant, if you've nothing else to suggest, I'll be getting along. I told Major Benson I'd see him at lunch time; and I may have some news for you by tonight." "Right," assented Heath. "I'm going to stick around here a while and see if there's anything I overlooked. I'll arrange for a guard outside and also for a man inside to keep an eye on the Platz woman. Then I'll see the reporters and let them in on the dis-appearing Cadillac and Mr. Vance's mysterious revolver in the secret drawer. I guess that ought to hold 'em. If I find out anything, I'll phone you." When he had shaken hands with the district attorney, he turned to Vance. "Good-bye, sir," he said pleasantly, much to my surprise, and to Markham's too. I imagine, "I hope you learned something this morning." "You'd be positively dumb-founded, Sergeant, at all I did learn," Vance answered carelessly. Again I noted the look of shrewd scrutiny in Heath's eyes; but in a second it was gone. "Well, I'm glad of that," was his perfunctory reply. Markham, Vance and I went out, and the patrolman on duty hailed a taxicab for us. "So that's the way our lofty generalmerit approaches the mysterious wherefores of criminal enterprise—eh?" mused Vance, as we started on our way across town. "Markham, old dear, how do those robust lads ever succeed in running down a culprit?" "You have witnessed only the barest preliminaries," Markham explained. "There are certain things that must be done as a matter of routine." "But my word!—such technique!" sighed Vance. "Ah, . . . all." "You don't think much of Heath's capacity, I know," Markham's voice was patient—"but he's a clever man, and one that it's very easy to underestimate." "I dare say," murmured Vance. "Anyway, I'm deeply grateful to you, and all that, for letting me behold the solemn proceedings. I've been vastly amused, even if not uplifted. Your official Aesculapius rather appealed to me, y' know—such a brisk, unemotional chap, and utterly unimpressed with the corpse. He really should have taken crime in a serious way, instead of studying medicine." (To Be Continued)

Joint Owners Of Cars Will Not Have To Pay Small Fee

Madison—(AP)—First announcement from the secretary of state's automobile license division that cost of the new driver's licenses in cases where husband and wife were joint owners of an automobile would be divided between the two were erroneous, it was said Wednesday, and under the new ruling both will be given a free license as joint owners of an automobile.

The law reads that the owner of an automobile shall be given the new driver's license free and that any other persons who are to operate the car shall pay a fee of 25 cents. On the question of what would happen in the case of joint ownership, as in instances where a husband and wife both are registered on the car title, the auto division and the secretary of state's office first guessed that one of the parties would be an extra driver and hence have to pay the 25 cents. Then it was decided that either the husband or wife might pay the money.

Now it is found that as both are legally owners of such a car, they are both entitled to a free driver's license.

The secretary of state's office has asked in case of this kind that joint owners do not send in their quarters for a license, as the trouble and expense of returning them will be great and the money cannot be kept.

5 GIRLS IN FINALS OF DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Five girls were selected at a final preliminary contest Monday to speak at the Appleton high school in a declamatory contest sponsored by George Dame, on Nov. 18.

The winner will receive the cup given every year by Mr. Dame and also will represent Appleton in the Fox River valley declamatory contest to be held Dec. 12 at Marinette. Miss Ruth McKennan will direct the contest work.

Thirty-six girls entered the declamatory contest this year. Preliminary contests have been held during the last three school days.

Immediately after the afternoon session the Sheboygan branch plans to have an automobile trip through the village and stop to see the beautiful murals. Later all delegates and visitors are invited for tea at the Kohler home at Riverbend farm, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kohler. This affair will be the formal conclusion of the conference.

1,000 BANK CLERKS OF STATE IN SCHOOL

Further Education Along Banking Lines Offered by National Institute

Marshfield—(AP)—Approximately 1,000 Wisconsin bank employees are seeking further education along the lines of the banking business by attending classes conducted by the American Institute of Banking, according to J. L. Stauber, Marshfield, president of the organization.

Mr. Stauber, in his announcement, says there are between 12 and 15 classes in as many cities in the state at the present time, meeting one night a week and studying under an experienced instructor. The meetings are held weekly for 28 weeks during the year, the first class opening during the early part of September.

In cities where there are 30 or more employees of banks who desire to hold classes they have the privilege of forming city chapters where the study classes are carried out with a paid instructor. They may elect their own officers and carry on the work as an organization. The former method, used until a year ago, was through individual correspondence work which had to be submitted to the New York office for final grading.

In cities where it is possible to interest, or where not more than ten employees are located, a plan has been devised whereby group study courses are held with the final examinations sent from the New York office.

The Institute is a national organization with classes in practically every state.

COMPLETE PAVING OF 2 ROADS NEAR CITY

Shoulders Alongside Highways Will Not Be Finished for Several Weeks

Two concrete road near Appleton will be opened to travel within a few weeks, according to reports from two districts. In Waupaca-co the concrete work has been completed on highway 10 between Fremont and Dale and the road will be ready for traffic within two weeks. Work of building shoulders along the road will take several weeks longer, however.

Laying of concrete on the road from Gmeiner's corner just south of Appleton to Menasha, known as the cemetery-appleton road was completed Monday. The stretch which is 18 foot wide and two and one-half miles long, is expected to form a belt line between Appleton and Menasha and take some of the traffic off federal highway 41.

Work of laying concrete started Sept. 6 but was delayed by heavy rains late that month and in October. Work of building shoulders will be begun at once and if the favorable weather continues will be completed this fall. If the shoulders are not completed the road will be opened but drivers warned that are traveling on it at their own risk.

Dr. O'Keefe's Office will be closed until Monday, Oct. 31.

that lead
the world in popularity

The number of Ton and 1/2-Ton trucks in use today is far greater than that of any other capacities—for these are the units used by thousands upon thousands of retail merchants to meet the requirements of modern delivery service.

And because Chevrolet offers the greatest value available in each of these two sizes, both the Chevrolet Ton and 1/2-Ton trucks are leading the world in popularity.

Come in—and see for yourself what Chevrolet offers you in comparison with other trucks. Note the advanced, modern design in every unit—the sturdy, oversize construction—the wide variety of body types. Go for a trial load demonstration, and test the certainty of Chevrolet's power—its handling ease—its flexibility in traffic.

Then look over the economy records established by Chevrolet trucks in every line of business—records which definitely establish Chevrolet as the world's most economical haulage unit with the world's lowest ton-mile cost.

Then you'll know why Chevrolet is the world's largest builder of gearshift trucks—with undisputed leadership in both the Ton and 1/2-Ton fields!

JUDGE ASCRIBES 4 REASONS FOR CRIME AMONG JUVENILES

Judge Heinemann Blames Parents, Automobiles, Prohibition and Children

Kaukauna—Close to four hundred parents and teachers attended the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher's association Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium.

Judge Fred V. Heinemann of the county court spoke on "The Value of an Early Bed as a Preventative of Juvenile Crime," as part of an "Early to Bed" program sponsored by Miss Marie J. Hayes, city health nurse and Miss Eleanor Wooster, city supervisor of music.

"A court does not recognize in the first place," the judge said, "that a child can commit a crime. It does not believe the child has sufficient intelligence and that such crimes must be prompted through older people. No child is branded as a criminal in this jurisdiction if he commits a crime but rather we call him an offender. The juveniles in this county and surrounding counties who have committed crimes during the past few years could be counted on ten fingers."

"Now I have four reasons for any crimes that may be committed by children. In the first place I blame the parents. In these present days the children are left on their own too much. After work 'Pa' comes home and rushes off to seek the company of some of his friends. 'Ma' has worked hard all day and does not care to stay home alone in the evening so she decides to go and leave the children in charge of the maid. This and gets in touch with her boy friend and they are fixed for the evening. Then who is going to entertain the 'kids'? We're all social beings and need entertainment, children as well as grown ups. With one to entertain them, they are going to entertain themselves and off they go to the neighbors. This starts the trouble. They get used to staying out nights and when they become a little older and are entitled to a pass key to the house they stay out all night."

"In the second place I blame the automobile. It is too easy to get a long distance in a short time now. And that car must be going constantly and the child will not take it out alone but he must have the company of one or maybe even four more."

"Prohibition also comes in for its share of the blame. I will not discuss the merits or demerits of prohibition at this time but court records show that crime among juveniles has increased since the child thinks it is smart to go to the city's saloons and the possibility of their development in the future."

A program of speeches has been arranged and will follow a 6:30 dinner. The meeting will be in the council chambers of the municipal building.

BY MAE TINEE
Good Morning!
That craving to see a smart, smooth, sophisticated comedy drama with a clever plot, may I suggest, can be satisfied by a visit to the Chicago theatre where "A Gentleman of Paris" starring one Adolph Menjou is being offered for your consideration.

The picture is well directed. It is splendidly acted. It is elegantly photographed—(if you ever run out of adjectives, Miss Tinee, what will you do?)—and presents the suave A. Menjou in a sympathetic role.

Mr. Menjou first attracted favorable attention in "A Woman of Paris." It is fitting that as a gentleman of Paris he should win some more laurels.

The plot? Never mind about the plot. But it concerns the marquis and his valet who, on the happiest of terms all the valet discovers that that beloved philanthropist, his master, has been having an affair with said valet's wife. Not knowing, you understand that the estimable Joseph had a wife.

"I suppose it is a great temptation to you to cut my throat?" queries the master as he is being shaved.

"There are more ways than one of cutting a throat," replies Joseph, and proves it.

There are some new and charming people in the cast, among whom is the leading lady, an interesting looking girl whose pose suggests stage training. Also, the director is a stranger. A welcome one.

Hope you will like the picture. Think you will.

A Gentleman of Paris will be shown at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Thursday and Friday.

The council is composed of the clergy and lay delegates of the diocese the number being proportionate to the church membership in the various parishes.

The chief business of the council will be the election of a coadjutor bishop to assist Bishop R. H. Weller, who has requested that he be provided with an assistant to aid in diocesan work.

REPAIRING KITCHEN IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

London—(UP)—The famous kitchen in the house of commons is undergoing extensive repairs during the parliamentary recess.

The kitchens were built in 1834, but meals had been served to England's lawmakers ages before that. Members of parliament, however, are seldom sequestered. Most of them eat quickly and frugally.

Mr. Lloyd George is a staunch patron of the cold buffet in the dining room. He dislikes a long wait for meals and is one of the fastest feeders in the House.

The Labor members, with the exception of Miss Ellen Wilkinson, who is a vegetarian, are partial to porridge and grilled sausages.

Commander Keworth's favorite dish is the little cup custards which have been a feature of the house of commons' menu for a number of years.

WOMEN DELEGATES FALL BEFORE SHOPPING LURE

Paris—(UP)—The women delegates to the interparliamentary conference were torn between their assignment to help settle world problems and the universal feminine urge to do some shopping when in Paris. The dress makers proved a stronger lure than the seats of the Senate chamber, where the conference was held.

At the opening session there were a dozen feminine delegates listening to the speakers who had come from many lands. The next day only four women appeared. There were never a dozen again until the final session when M. Brand played on his "unlabeled" vocal chords, famous in the world over. The voice of the French Foreign Minister, who is a bachelor, is always an attraction for women at League of Nations conferences in Geneva as well as in Paris it has been observed that the galleries always have a crowd of fair auditors when M. Brand takes the floor.

The first school in the Netherlands for civil aviation is being financed through the efforts of the Rotterdam Aero club which has been assured that no competing school will be authorized.

Believed to be 2,500 years old, a savings bank in the form of an urn has been found in the ruins of Utica, the ancient Phoenician city of the African coast.

GALLI-CURCI RETURNS FROM SEASON ABROAD

In a single season that the world's most famous singer, Amelita Galli-Curci who will be heard at the auditorium, Green Bay was absent from concert in this country, she conquered four new continents with her magic powers.

The situation is without precedent. To all good Americans it becomes a matter of strong pride in times gone by a triumph abroad brought a singer to triumph in America. Madame Galli-Curci reversed all this.

The apex of her triumphs as foremost prima donna of the world was reached here in America. Those triumphs made Great Britain, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, and other lands where she had not been heard, impatient to listen to the voice that had charmed millions in the United States.

Already she had made conquests of Italy, Egypt, Russia, Spain, South and Central America, and Cuba when she reached our shores. She had purposed only to visit here and a little later leave for Europe. Then came

CATLIN WORKS BLUES HARD FOR BATTLE WITH BELOIT

Teams, Rated About Even, Battle Here As Feature Of Lawrence Homecoming

Rivals of Many Years Battle to Keep from Cellar in Midwest Conference

Two teams which have been kicked all over the gridiron by their competitors in the Midwest conference will stage their annual football battle on Saturday afternoon. They are the teams representing Beloit and Lawrence colleges and their efforts will furnish much of the entertainment for the annual homecoming crowds of the latter institution.

Saturday's game in all probability will be for a championship, the cellar championship, for both squads are now resting on the lower rungs of the ladder. Beloit has nothing like the powerful squads which she used to turn out a few years back, and neither has Lawrence. Both teams are made up of comparatively light men who have little experience on the gridiron. From all indications, however, the weight championship will go to Lawrence the Blue and White line out, weighing the Beloit forwards.

HARD PRACTICE

Monday and Tuesday evenings were practice sessions for Lawrence and it is very likely every night this week will be of like character. For Coach Catlin can take no chances on scrimmaging his men because he already has a hospital list that looks like the casualties after a Mexican insurrection. Half a dozen men are either missing or are hobbling through practice with one leg dangling behind to keep it from further injury. And there are no subs as was seen Tuesday night when there were not enough men for two teams.

Two new plays were dashed out to the squad Tuesday night but whether they will ever get them down "cat" is another problem. Catlin threatened to drill the outfit until after dark Wednesday if the men didn't show some adaptability to the new ideas. A couple dozen attempts at getting them working fairly well Tuesday turned out to be fizzes.

BELOIT LINE WEEK

Coach Bohler down at Beloit has had as much to worry about as Catlin this fall and is so disappointed in his line that he went out and hired A. J. Bieberstein, former Wisconsin star to come over to Beloit and impart some of his knowledge to the Gold Miners. Bohler blames his line for the defeat handed the team by Knox Saturday and as he has no desire of occupying the cellar he aims to put Lawrence there this week.

Apparently the dovish coach is satisfied with his backfield, one of which are Lawrence's quarterback and captain and Bud Laabs, one of the relics of the great teams down on the state line. Laabs has been taken from the wing position and made into a fullback.

Both these men will cause plenty of trouble Saturday and especially Lawrence. He is a small chap weighing 150 pounds, but is a triple threat and majors in the open field running. When he isn't occupied in that task he will be tossing passes. His toe will keep the ball a respectable distance within Lawrence territory if bunting counts for much.

BLUE MIXED LINEUP

Lawrence has been presenting a mixed lineup the last few days and what the lineup will be Saturday is anyone's guess. Mike Kintleson, who played a creditable game against Lake Forest last week, was again tossing the ball at center while Scouner was moved to guard with Ebert lumping along on the second string. McDonald was at left end taking the place of St. Mitchell who is sick and bent who is nursing an injured leg. Schlagenhauf was calling signals and Melms will watch practice in "corvues" until some of his injuries heal.

The second squad presented an other battered picture with some of the injured men running along to get limbered up. Hunter played fullback but his knee and ankle still bother so he cannot move with any speed.

SEYMOUR HIGH PLAYS 15 BASKETBALL GAMES

Seymour high school's basketball squad will face a schedule of 15 hard games this winter, opening with Luxembourg at Pulaski Feb. 3. Green Bay, Wisconsin college at Seymour Feb. 10, according to the year's card completed this week by Athletic Director Alfred E. Rohloff. The Seymour men play eight home games and seven away.

The schedule:

Nov. 12, Luxembourg at Seymour; Nov. 15, Seymour at Denmark; Nov. 25, Central Wisconsin college at Seymour; Dec. 2, Seymour at Luxembourg; Dec. 9, Seymour at Brillion; Dec. 15, Hortonville at Seymour; Dec. 23, Seymour at Wrightstown; Jan. 5, Wrightstown at Seymour; Jan. 13, Seymour at Hortonville; Jan. 20, New London at Seymour; Jan. 27, Seymour at Pulaski; Feb. 3, Green Bay, Wisconsin college at Seymour; Feb. 10, Pulaski at Seymour; Feb. 17, Denmark at Seymour; Feb. 24, Seymour at New London.

Cardinal Hopes Hinge On Strength Of Front Wall

Madison—The Cardinal hopes in the approaching Minnesota-Wisconsin game hinges for the most part on the strength of the line, which may or may not be as powerful as the forward wall of the Gophers. Wisconsin fans have had nothing but praise for the line that Coach Tom Lieb has built at Madison this fall.

Frank and Wagner, in their present state, appear to be the best pair of tackles in the conference. Both of these boys are juniors, playing their second year of varsity ball under the wing of Left Bismar, however, was a reserve in 1926, but this fall he stepped into the hole left vacant by the graduation of three veterans.

When a Kretzler, a towering sophomore from Delmar, has made a symphony of the tackle post, Jack McKeachie, a senior, has been the one to bring to light a pair of veterans, whose future looks bright. Frank and Wagner, in their present state, appear to be the best pair of tackles in the conference. Both of these boys are juniors, playing their second year of varsity ball under the wing of Left Bismar, however, was a reserve in 1926, but this fall he stepped into the hole left vacant by the graduation of three veterans.

GEORGIANS TO TEST NOTRE DAME

SIX OF KNUTE ROCKNE'S STARS AT NOTRE DAME

Just how good this Golden Tornado from Georgia Tech is will be learned when they play Notre Dame on Oct. 29 at South Bend. The Tech eleven, as you know, beat Alabama recently, the first time that has been done by a southern team since 1924. Georgia Tech is going to have to be plenty good to resist the onslaught of the Rockne men. Here are six of the stars Knute Rockne will parade against the southerners—Christy Flanagan, "Nig" Niemic, and Charles Riley, backs, and Smith, captain, Voedsch and Walsh, stellar linemen.

ORANGE HARRIERS IN VALLEY EVENT

Appleton High Sophs in Race at Manitowoc Saturday

While Appleton high school's gridiron team is clashing with Manitowoc high at the Ship city field Saturday afternoon in a Valley conference battle, the Orange's green cross-country squad will compete nearby in the first official fall harrier contest of the conference. Five schools, East Green Bay, Oshkosh, Marinette, Appleton and Manitowoc have entered teams, with all odds favoring Manitowoc, with East and Oshkosh second place probabilities. Sheboygan, Fond du Lac and West are not entered.

Manitowoc has a nucleus of veteran distance men from last year's track squad and also from the cross-country team which won the unofficial fall meet of the conference last year at Green Bay. That team also finished second to a crack Milwaukee squad in the state meet. This year's Ship team is the only conference squad to have a dual meet behind it Saturday, the Ship whipped a crack Milwaukee high team or a 27-32 score.

FIVE SOPHOMORES

Appleton's team will be composed mostly of sophs, long distance winners of the junior highs last year. The first six winners in the recent interclass meet at the local school will have the preference. They are Batley, Nohr and Valley, sophs; Marston, a junior, and Roemer and Knoll, sophs. The meet will be run in the morning, opening at 10 o'clock.

ORANGE GRIDDERS IN HARD PRACTICE

Coaches Shields and Delforge Drive Team Hard for Manitowoc

If Appleton high school's gridiron warriors fail to beat Manitowoc high at the Ship city Saturday in a Valley conference game, it will surely not be the fault of the Orange mentors, for starting Tuesday evening the local eleven was put through a hard period of practice that will last the entire week. The linemen spent the early part of the practice working on his much abused humpness, the dummy, and indications are that Mr. Dummy will get plenty more work this week. The backs worked at punting and returning punts.

Two or three new plays were tried and indications are that the Orange will attempt to run large plays of territory on runbacks of punts. A new man was tried in this department, a veteran, now only to carrying back the kicks this year, and a special defense is being planned to take out the opposing end. This will give the carrier just the start needed as the line men, worried by the Orange line, will not be down quick enough to half a good start.

SUBS IN LINE

In scrimmage Tuesday, the right side of the line was composed of the subs who worked so well against Sheboygan, while Pegg was at half back. Rollin was at Abraham's tackle and Reedy at end, with the veterans Rankin, Leibold, Geyer, Giesch and Schaefer completing the line. Hartung was at the second, Kruse was at the first and Elias was with the seconds. In

FORMER LAWRENCE TEAMMATES MEET AS RIVAL MENTORS

Blackburn, Smith Coach City Title, Contenders and McGlynn "Writes 'Em Up"

Three former Lawrence college gridiron stars, now holding prominent athletic jobs in Milwaukee, have been the cause of much humorous comment by their old teammates and present Lawrence athletes. "Stoney" McGlynn, better known to Lawrence students as "Punk" is writing high school spots for a Cream city newspaper, while two of his old teammates, Lisle, "Liz" Blackburn and William "Tiger Bill" Smith, are coaching the two leading contenders for the city championship this year in a Milwaukee paper. Stoney is pictured with his fingers to his ears as his two former mates tell him of the respective merits of their teams.

Liz is coach at Washington high, where he has turned out great teams since his debut there a few years ago. Bill went from Lawrence to Kaukauna high, where his record as a mentor is well known to Valley spot fans. This year is his first at West division Milwaukee. Neither school has lost a game in the city high conference and they will meet for the title on Nov. 12 as all others have been eliminated by losses. It will be a battle of one Lawrence athlete against another with the third "writing up" the struggle.

The best part of the story is the number of peculiar coincidences. Smith, Blackburn and McGlynn were teammates for two years at Lawrence and Smith and McGlynn were for three. The latter pair also spent four years together on the Wisconsin Rapids high squad back in the days when the city was known as Grand Rapids. Blackburn is from Darling-ton.

Then Smith played center while Liz and Stoney were his tackles. All three were captains of Lawrence gridiron squads, all three were chosen all-state players at their jobs and to cap the climax all three are fraternity brothers, being members of the Delta Iota fraternity on N. Union-st.

ELEVEN'S BATTLE TO TIE; GAME FORFEIT

Washington, D. C.—Two high school football eleven's battled to a 19 to 19 tie here Tuesday, only to learn that the game had been forfeited by agreement of the coaches before the opening whistle.

Players of both sides played with a do or die spirit which brought cheer after cheer from the stands. In the closing minutes of play, Busness High school punched the tying score across.

Then the Central High school coach revealed that Business High had been allowed to use three ineligible players, upon agreeing to forfeit the game.

ARMOUR, FARRELL FAVORED TO GIVE HAIG COMPETITION

Pros Who Played Here Few Weeks Ago Carded as Hagen's Strongest Rivals

New York — The collision of three great stars, each of whom has his head turned along to its highest peak of brilliancy, will feature the last national golf championship of the year. The Professional Golfers' Association holds its annual title chase this fall over the verdant and black soil of the Cedar Crest Country Club at Dallas, Texas, the first week of November.

Judging from recent performances which indicate a steady progression of form, the three contenders expected to unseat Hagen, the beefy defending champion; Johnny Farrell, the dapper lad who has won so many meets this summer he is called the uncrowned king, and Tommy Armour, who went out and executed some swell shots, enough to make him champion of all he surveys—if he is a good surveyor. Armour happens to be open ruler of the United States and Canada.

Of course there will be a couple of boys around the clubhouse who think they have a chance—Eugene Sarazen, Robert Cruickshank, Harry Cooper, Albert Watrous, William Mehlhorn and other good golf players, but the public eye will be gloomed on the big potatoes mentioned at the top of the menu.

Old Warhorse Hagen is the defending champion, but the role is not a new one. Mr. Hagen has been defending his title as best professional for three years now. And just between you and me and the caddy-master he looks like a good bet to repeat again.

The most recent tip-off on the Haig's form can be read between the agate lines of the western open results held at Chicago while Mr. Dempsey and Mr. Tunney were training for their late lamented engagement.

This writer ambled out to Olympia Fields every afternoon in the scorching sun and watched Mr. Hagen shoot some scorching good golf. He won the title for the third year in a row.

Over one of the toughest layouts in the world he averaged 63-2-3 strokes for three rounds.

With a scant few exceptions all the high-salaried pros were there—Farrell, Armour, Cruickshank, Macdonald Smith, Cooper, Loos, Watrous, Sarazen—not to mention a cloud of classy amateurs.

One the first day he came home with a 70 over the No. 4 course, the best round of the curtain-raiser. On the second day they routed him over the No. 1 course.

Now the Olympia Fields greens committee can do more things to a golf links than Mr. Rockne can to a football team. They made one tough route there—the No. 1 course—and it has tripped up many a fine shot maker.

Walter told me before he teed up that he had not even troubled to play a practice round over it. I often wonder what he would have done if he had, because he was playing superb golf at the time. All he did was to whirl around the 13 greens in the dizzy total of 67 strokes—a new record.

He went out on the morning round of the third day and shot a 69 and then he was set in and in the falling rain of his final round he slipped—if one can use the word—to a mere 75.

Everyone seems to be hopped up over his impending clash with Farrell and Armour, but if Mr. Hagen keeps up that kind of golf the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Professionals ought to get after him.

CARROLL MUST BEAT RIPON TO HOLD TOP

Pioneers Clash With Redmen
Saturday in W-I Contest

Waukesha—Leading the Wisconsin conference with games won and total points scored for the third consecutive year, Carroll will serve as the center of Wisconsin college football attraction as it enters the Ripon homecoming game at Ripon Saturday.

The Pioneers, besides holding their place on top of the standing column, must beat the Crimson to have any chances against Lake Forest, which team has crept from fourth place in the league to second by virtue of its 12 to 0 victory Saturday over the Vikings of Appleton.

If Carroll repeats its performance of the last four years and trounces the Crimson, the conference crown will revolve around the Orange and the Foresters. Last year Ripon was beaten 20-0, in 1925 27 to 0, in 1924 the two played a scoreless tie, and in 1923 Ripon fell the loser, 3 to 0. Carroll still has the biggest brunt of conference games to play, Ripon, Lawrence and Lake Forest being on the schedule.

College Captains

SHARPE OF VANDERBILT
Nashville, Tenn. — One of the best captains Vanderbilt has ever had — that's Dan McGugin's opinion of Vernon Sharpe, captain of the Commodores this year.

Not only is Sharpe a great captain, but McGugin also says that Sharpe is one of the five best centers he has ever seen.

It's some compliment for Sharpe, when you consider that McGugin has been captain and centers come and go for many, many years.

An interesting story is told of Sharpe concerning a pass that struck him in the recent Vanderbilt-Texas game. No official saw it strike the Vanderbilt star. One asked him about the play. "It hit me," he said.

The truthful answer gave the ball to Texas with only 20 yards to go, to a touchdown, and eventually defeated the McGuginites.

"Sharpe is the best center Vanderbilt has had since Stein Stone," says McGugin, "and I often think he is one of the five best centers I have seen in my football career."

FRIDAY GAME
W. Green Bay vs. Oshkosh.
SATURDAY GAME
APPLETON VS. MANITOWOC.
E. Green Bay vs. Marquette.
Fond du Lac vs. Sheboygan.

Coach Joseph Shield's Orangetown Appleton high school gridiron squad will have the chance of a lifetime to step up a notch in the Valley conference race Saturday if it can whip Manitowoc's revengeful eleven in its home field at Manitowoc. For Marquette, a game above the Orange in third place, meets East Green Bay's fast-stepping championship contenders and a Marquette loss, coupled with an Appleton win, will tie the teams for third. Should Marquette win that squad will shoot to second above East and even to first should West also lose to Oshkosh.

This weekend's card is the best-balanced of the season with every game almost a tossup battle. West Green Bay is considered to have the best chance of winning from its rival, but even West will have to step, as it meets Oshkosh, always dangerous this year, at the Oshkosh grid. Beside this West lost the services of its regular center, Whitney, at Manitowoc last week and he was classed as a better man than the Purple's 1926 center, Johnson, who many scribes picked for an all-Valley conference center berth.

East and Marquette, of course, is the feature game, with East the favorite even though the game is played at Marquette. The home field will help the Marquette men, but they will have to exhibit better ball than in their last three games with Appleton, West and Fondy to beat East's classy machine.

APPLETON VS. MANITOWOC
Appleton, with Johnston about ready to show why he was an all-Valley selection last year and his injuries well healed, should beat Manitowoc, but again the game is at the home field of the underdog, while the struggle is a grudge tilt. Manitowoc would call its season successful without another win if it could whip the Orange before the home folks, which it did only in basketball of three sport events for which the locals journeyed to that city last year.

Fond du Lac and Sheboygan will meet in a tossup battle for the cellar title. Sheboygan still has to win a conference battle, but Fondy has just one victory and a Chair City triumph will tie the two teams for the lowest rung or for sixth should Manitowoc lose. Fondy, playing the type of ball it did against Marquette last Saturday when it was in the Purple territory most of the afternoon and lost a mark or by a fumble on the three-yard line, is a slight favorite to win.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL DEFENDS MAT TITLE

Virginia Mercereau Retains World's Crown in Ohio Match

Virginia Mercereau, former Appleton girl, known to local residents as Marie Diderich, defended her title as woman's world's wrestling champion from one of her most persistent challengers on Saturday, Oct. 22, in Mansfield, Ohio, according to word received by friends here. Her rival, Miss Teddy Meyers, came all the way from Georgia for the match, promising to wear out Miss Mercereau in three falls. Virginia had won a one-fall match from Miss Meyers before and the Georgian was after revenge.

However, the former Appletonian, who has been forced to wrestle men lately, took the match. She won the first fall in 23 minutes with a headlock that made Miss Meyers give up. Miss Meyers forced the champion to quit in the second in 14 minutes with a toe-hold and Virginia took the final fall in 18 minutes with a crushing body scissors that left Miss Meyers unconscious. It was a case of blonde vs. brunette with the light-haired woman as the victor but the crowd backed Miss Meyers most of the way. Miss Meyers will demand a return match.

Miss Mercereau, though lighter and smaller in many respects than her foe, wore out Miss Meyer with punishing headlocks. A sport scribe who witnessed the match said: "The match was strictly on the 'up-and-up' as the boys in the back room would say. Here we had two crafty, skillful grapplers, the best in the world of the fair sex. Each had the other writhing to escape punishing holds, often one picking the other up bodily and crashing her to the mat.

They are not novices at the game, these two. The crowd was in a frenzy as each woman clapped gruelling holds that had strength galore in them. The crowd applauded as each wriggled and bounced out of agonizing headlocks and turned the tables by applying some grip that put the other on the defensive. It was a real championship battle with toe and scissors hold, armlocks and headlocks falling where they might.

The champion wore down her adversary largely through head locks which weakened the southern girl. The women qualified for the tin-car brotherhood, roughing it often and passing bitter remarks which is all in the game.

ARMY, NAVY GRIDMEN LIKED ROUGH BATTLE

BY BOB MATHERNE
It is good, now and then when you hear talk of the roughness of football, to repeat a story that has gone the rounds concerning an Army-Navy battle of a past year.

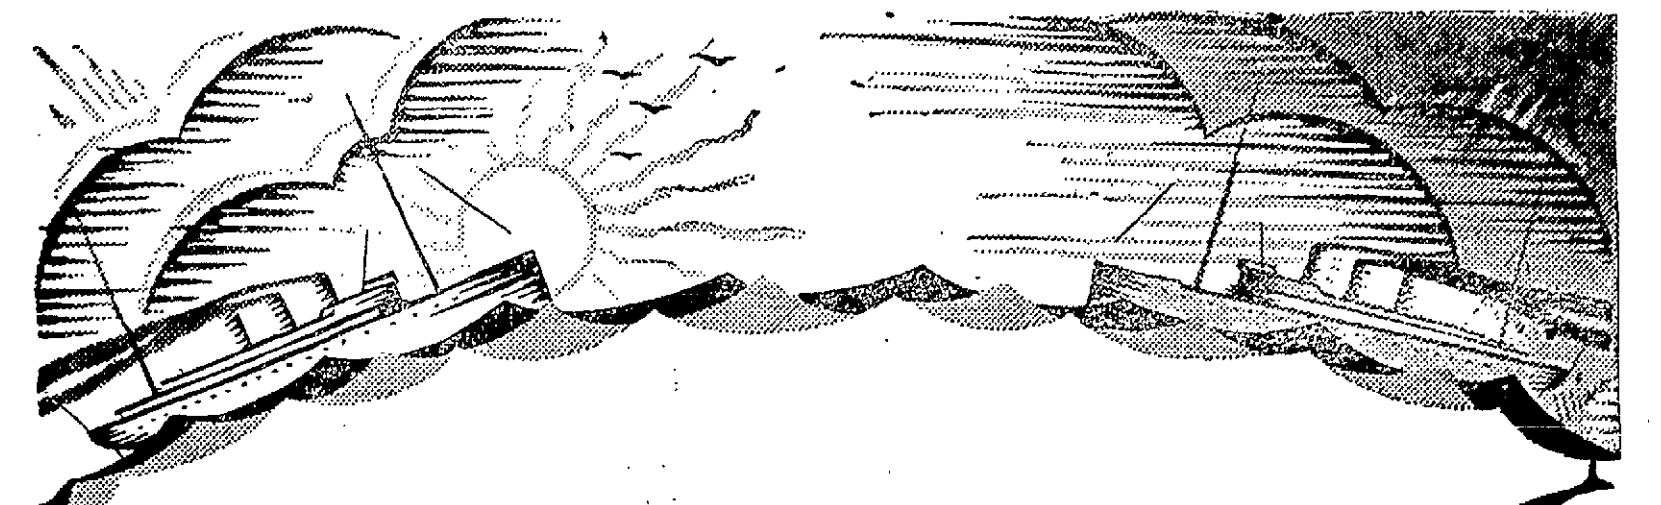

The story goes that the referee of this game between eleven tough Navy boys asked the Army captain as the game started whether they had any trick plays, or anything they wanted him to watch in particular. "Only one thing, Mr. Referee," came the answer. "Remember, this is not a college game. Please do not penalize the Navy too much, the Army players will take care of themselves."

From the Navy captain came the same request—"Don't penalize the Army boys too much, the Navy boys will take care of themselves."

So, for 60 minutes, they fought, and fought hard! The Navy took care of itself. The Army took care of itself. Football to them was not a tea party.

Lpt a game in which eleven Army men battled eleven Navy men for all they were worth. The moral to the story is that the roughest, toughest man-to-man fight in football always leaves the pair with clasped hands, well satisfied that the game is worthwhile.

Great New Chrysler "62" at $1095 gives you more in performance, beauty, comfort, safety and long life than cars of other makes costing many hundreds of dollars more.

Impossible, you say! But a careful comparison of its features against features of sixes of other makes costing even up to $2000 will speedily convince you!

How can this be done, you ask? Chrysler's engineering and manufacturing plan of Standardized Quality, passes on to its cars of lower price the important developments of its own cars of higher price.

As a result in the "62" you get a combination of fine-car features which previously cost several hundred dollars more even in a Chrysler and which are still not available in any other make unless you pay very much more than $1095.

It's easy to convince yourself of this. See the Great New Chrysler "62." Ride in it. Test it in any way you choose. Above all, check these features with those of any six of other make even up to $2000. You will then readily understand the reason for its most sensational public preference.

LIONS SEE MOVIE SHOWING BEAUTY SCENES OF STATE

Port Being Made at New London to Prevent Destruction of Nature Spots

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Seeing Wisconsin—the Land of Lakes—is a motion picture presented by Otto Stiller of Green Bay which featured the entertainment at the regular meeting of the Lions club held Tuesday noon at the Elwood hotel. An effort is being made to arouse the interest of civic organizations, as well as individuals, in the matter of preserving the spots of beauty along the valley of the Wolf river, which seemed desirable for use by water power companies.

The entry of the water power concerns would, it is claimed, destroy these spots of beauty, although engineers interested in its commercial possibilities say improved roads and the erection of good buildings would result.

The pictures were produced with amateur movie apparatus and possibly taken by Mr. Stiller. Scenes included in the travelogue were Keshena falls, Bear Trap falls, highway scenes between Bear Trap falls and Keshena falls, the Wolf River falls, the Wolf river canyon, Little Smoky falls, and Big Smoky falls.

A short reel also was shown, portraying the industrial world around Green Bay, showing principally the ice harvest industry, modern methods of excavation and winter sports at Bear's creek.

According to Mr. Stiller, no facts have as yet been obtained as to the proposed activities of the Water Power concerns in the river valley but the Isaak Walton league is using every effort to arouse interest to prevent the destroying of the river spots of beauty. The league urges organizations to find out what power companies propose to do and how far they want to go.

Mrs. Harry Spear whose wedding to Lion Spear occurred last week, was a guest of the club and was accompanied by Mrs. George Polzin. A number of wives of local Lions attended the moving picture following the dinner.

PAST LEGION COMMANDER TO SPEAK ARMISTICE DAY

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Vilas H. Whaley, Racine, past state commander of the American legion department of Wisconsin, and a member of the national executive committee will be the speaker at the Armistice day banquet given by the Norris-Speiser Post No. 253 of the American legion.

Musical numbers will be given during the dinner hour and a program of short talks has been arranged. Giles H. Putnam will act as toastmaster. An evening of dancing will follow the banquet. The usual plan of ticket sale by the members of the organization has been dispensed with and this year the matter is being handled at the local drug stores.

UPSHAW TO LECTURE TONIGHT ON DRY LAW

Former Georgia Solon Scheduled to Make Three Addresses Here

William D. Upshaw, former congressman from Georgia, was scheduled to give four addresses in and near Appleton Thursday night and Friday under the auspices of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League.

Mr. Upshaw spoke at the high school at 11 o'clock in the morning, and at Neenah high school at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He will speak at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the Congregational church. The last of the four full addresses will be given before students of Lawrence college in Memorial chapel at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Accompanying Mr. Upshaw on his tour of the state is J. F. Hartman, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League.

Mr. Upshaw spoke six times at Fond du Lac Tuesday, although he was the victim of a minor automobile accident at Milwaukee Monday. The southern dry crusader, a cripple since his youth, speaks while sitting on a table or chair on the platform of the auditorium.

TELLS OF HIS YOUTH In his address at the high school Wednesday morning, Mr. Upshaw told of his youth on a Georgia farm when he rehearsed to the mules drawing his plow the speeches he intended to make in congress.

"Then, one dazzy, rainy day," the speaker said, "I started out to haul some wood. I remember thinking: 'This task must be finished today.' But the task was never finished by me. I slipped and fell, striking my back across a ditch, and my hopes and ambitions fell with me."

"For seven years I lay helpless on a bed with my crushed hopes lying around me. But I could not be lying to do nothing. So I dictated my thoughts, bits of poetry and other things that stirred my heart, and members of my family taking them down, transmitted them to the Atlanta Constitution and other publications."

UNIVERSITY AT 31 "Later," he gathered these contributions to the press in book form and went about the country in a wheeled chair, giving platform readings to earn the money to enter Mercer university at the age of 31.

"This is the thought I want to leave to you boys and girls. If one Georgia boy could dream his dreams and build his castles upon a hill, he could be in the front of his plans and hopes and never be discouraged—if he could keep his song of hope in his heart, and his star in the sky—if he could rise from his bed and work his way through college at 31 and go to congress to represent a great city like Atlanta, then you Wisconsin boys and girls with strong arms and strong backs and strong purpose can do anything on earth that God wants you to do."

FIVE SENATORS IN ELECTION OF 1928

dry and is looked upon favorably inside the Democratic party to prove that their objection to the New York Governor is not on religious grounds.

REED ONLY WET Senator Reed of Missouri, is the only wet of the entire senate group of candidates. His main argument is one of attack on Coolidge policies.

Nearly every one of the senators candidates has a special activity which will bring him into prominence in the forthcoming session of congress.

At the head of a special investigating committee inquiring into the Smith and Vane senatorial contests in Illinois and Pennsylvania Mr. Walsh prosecuted the Teapot Dome cases so vigorously that he thinks he has an opportunity in the public utility field.

He plans to introduce a resolution to have a special committee appointed, of which he will be the chairman. Indications are that the resolution would be fought which will give Mr. Walsh a chance to speak at considerable length in an effort to free passage of the resolution.

NORRIS HEADS INSURGENTS Senator Norris is at the head of the insurgent group of Republican senators who are interested in forcing action on farm relief as well as other matters of common interest to the so-called radical group.

The Nebraska senator is active in various controversies but there are indications that he too will take a prominent part in the discussion of waterpower and public utilities particularly because of his interest in the Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam projects.

Perhaps the most significant action that has yet been taken on the Republican side is the aggressive attack on behalf of Senator Norris in telegraphing Governor McMillan a denunciation of his nomination of Norris instead of former Governor Lowden of Illinois.

They asked that the two blocks bounded on the west by the city limits, on the south by Elston st., extended, on the east by N. Lincoln st. and on the north by N. Spring st. extended, be placed in the heavy manufacturing district, because of the proximity of the property to the Soo line tracks.

Property owners who requested the change were O. G. Hegner, J. H. Hegner, K. O. Bergsaken, Jentz Cedar company and J. H. Hegner.

Recommendations of the commission will be acted upon at the next regular meeting of the common council.

"Then, one dazzy, rainy day," the speaker said, "I started out to haul some wood. I remember thinking: 'This task must be finished today.' But the task was never finished by me. I slipped and fell, striking my back across a ditch, and my hopes and ambitions fell with me."

"For seven years I lay helpless on a bed with my crushed hopes lying around me. But I could not be lying to do nothing. So I dictated my thoughts, bits of poetry and other things that stirred my heart, and members of my family taking them down, transmitted them to the Atlanta Constitution and other publications."

UNIVERSITY AT 31 "Later," he gathered these contributions to the press in book form and went about the country in a wheeled chair, giving platform readings to earn the money to enter Mercer university at the age of 31.

"This is the thought I want to leave to you boys and girls. If one Georgia boy could dream his dreams and build his castles upon a hill, he could be in the front of his plans and hopes and never be discouraged—if he could keep his song of hope in his heart, and his star in the sky—if he could rise from his bed and work his way through college at 31 and go to congress to represent a great city like Atlanta, then you Wisconsin boys and girls with strong arms and strong backs and strong purpose can do anything on earth that God wants you to do."

Cancer deaths in England and Wales which broke all records with a total of 1,282 last year, will be even greater in number this year, according to British health authorities.

Aspirant, and while his nomination is calculated to leave the dry South despondent, the practical effect might not be comparable to the sectional cleavages which the Republican fight may bring forth.

It will be in the senate, however, that the first signs of the pro-convention battle will be fought. Besides the conspicuous candidates there are others who probably will try for "favorite son" support. Politics will make the coming session of congress extraordinary interest.

FEDERAL OFFICERS RAID ELKS CLUB AND THREATEN PADLOCK

Dump 21 Kegs of Beer on Ground—Seize Huge 'Home Brewery' in New London

Peterson, treasurer; James H. Ballistrer, trustee

The raiders said they have a good idea of the source of the beer and when they return from Shawano some time Wednesday they expect to raid the place. The federal men were to appear in court in Shawano to complain against the men arrested in the New London raid.

Equipment valued at several thousand dollars was destroyed at the Knapstein home at New London after liquor had been taken. The raid was made near noon. Four men, William Peopke, Frank Pogarski, Edward Helzer and Joseph Egger, who were at work in the brewery, were arrested. Knapstein was said to be in Milwaukee.

In addition to destroying the equipment found in the basement the officers confiscated a new truck, which had been driven less than 900 miles and an electric refrigerator plant.

Among the articles destroyed were 20 half-barrels and nine full barrels of beer, many malt containers, an eighteen pint bottle; electric pump washer, 125-gallon capacity strainer; 20,000 bottles and 30,000 caps.

John Schroeder, proprietor of a licensed soft drink parlor at Marion was arrested for selling liquor and appeared before police justice Johnson Tuesday afternoon. Schroeder was bound over for trial at fall term of circuit court. He was released on $500 bail.

DRY SLEUTHS NAB Madison (AP)—Dennis Closser, James Bowen and Arthur Zofel, all of Reedsburg, were brought to Madison Wednesday afternoon after establishments had been raided by federal officers armed with liquor warrants. They were bound over to the next term of federal court under bonds of $1,000 each.

TOWN OF CENTER FARMER LOSES LEG IN SILO FILLER While working on his farm near the town of Center, William Schultz caught his leg in a silo filler at about 4:20 Tuesday afternoon. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. The leg was crushed so badly it was amputated below the knee.

His wife, Mae Blohm, alleges that he deserted and failed to support her and their three minor children, one four, one three years and one four months old. Blohm was arrested by Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff, at Neenah on Oct. 3. He furnished $500 bonds.

WARM WEATHER FAILS TO STOP POOR AID REQUEST

Although the weather has continued clear and warm for several days, calls for aid are being received in a steadily increasing volume by the city poor department.

L. G. Schneider, poor commissioner, declared that an unusually large number of cases are being handled by his department. An average of two new calls are received daily, he said.

Most of the aid requested is for food or fuel. No calls for clothing have been received by Mr. Schneider.

FORMER PRINCESS OF RUSSIA NOW LIVING LIKE HUMBLE CITIZEN

Wealth Has Disappeared and Aged Sisters of Former Queen Now in Poverty

Copenhagen, Denmark (AP)—Once the dazzling beauty and central light in the oriental splendor of the court of Peter and Maria Feodorovna, 89-year-old dowager empress of Russia, is now living the spartan life of a humble citizen.

Her home is a modest seaside residence, "Hvidovre," just outside Copenhagen, bought years ago by her sister, the late Queen Alexandra of England. It is without central heating or stove of any kind for it was built as a summer residence only.

The fabulous wealth, the gorgeous jewelry, the vast property, of the dowager empress are no longer here. Everything has been confiscated, and the once shining comet in the firmament of European courts is so poor that her son-in-law has to manage the scanty stable of a Gorm Rasmussen, owner of a string of provision stores in Chicago, to support them.

Amid this comparative poverty the empress knits and embroiders and sells her handwork at the charity bazaars for the benefit of Russian refugees. Her bedspreads and scarfs fetch fancy prices. Once a day she goes for a short drive in her motor car, and this is the only break in her daily life.

On the doorman outside her bedroom sleeps a gigantic old Cossack, guarding the life of his imperial mistress as he has done for 30 years. At her table sit Prince Goufourov, formerly master of ceremonies of the imperial court at St. Petersburg, and the Baroness Madsen, chief lady-in-waiting, who share her frugal repast. No waxes sparkle in the glasses, the food is served on ordinary china, and the dining room is cold.

Occasionally a Russian troupe of singers and dancers comes to entertain her. Recently she received in audience a large group of Russian entertainers, all former officers, and welcomed them to tea.

Maria Feodorovna was very ill during the winter, but she has recovered her health and expects to celebrate her eightieth birthday, November 28.

The dowager empress was born in Copenhagen the daughter of Prince Christian of Glücksburg, who became King of Denmark. She married the Grand Duke of Russia in 1886, who later became Emperor Alexander III. The greater part of her childhood she spent at the so-called Yellow Palace, now the residence of Princess Vsevolod, formerly Eleanor Margaret Green of New York.

BUY PRINTED LECTURES FOR BULLETIN BOARDS A series of short lectures for display on bulletin boards have been purchased by the Wilson, Roosevelt and McKinley junior high schools; the four, one three years and one four months old. Blohm was arrested by Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff, at Neenah on Oct. 3. He furnished $500 bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Smith invited to two Sunday dinners where they attended the Clintonville Two Rivers football game.

Mrs. Anna Thien and daughter Nina of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kintzo of Milwaukee spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Vanddyk at Kimberly.

MILLIONAIRE SAYS GREED IS CAUSE OF FORTUNES

London (AP)—Charles R. Flint, American millionaire, says it is pure greed which prompts wealthy men to keep piling up money after they have laid by a fortune, and he admits that he is no exception to the rule.

Flint, now 77, a New York merchant and banker, is widely known as "the father of trusts" because of his record in the steel industry. He is also known for his wealth and his philanthropic work.

"There is only one reason," Flint responded, "I am not because of ambition, a craving for power" persisted the newspaperman.

"No," smiled Flint. It is pure greed. Ambition and power certainly play a part in keeping a man keen, but greed and greed alone is the reason a man keeps trying to swell his vast million after million."

"Mine workers endure heat in the shafts more easily when salt is added to their drinking water. Excessive perspiration causes a loss of salt from the body and the replacing of this element helps to prevent exhaustion."

That there is sufficient vitamin in white bread to meet ordinary requirements was the recent declaration of the chief medical officer of the British health ministry.

BANDS OF STARVING CHILDREN ROAM THE STREETS IN RUSSIA

Many Are Sent to Soviet Homes; Others Escape, Prey on Rich Travelers

BY JEROME DAVIS

Moscow—Russia is especially notorious in the United States for her communistic dictatorship, her revolutionary plotting, and the army of homeless children who swarm her prairies and invade her cities. There is truth in all of these reports.

If you were in Moscow tonight you would see small bands of tattered and weather-beaten children roaming the streets. They have all had unique adventures. Here, for instance, is a boy by the name of Boris whom I watched swimming in the Moscow river. He had but three garments, a coat, a shirt, and a pair of trousers—the latter patched like a crazy quilt.

Throwing aside his rags he plunged into the river, swimming clear across and back again. He then proceeded to pull out a kettle where it was hiding under a big rock. After building a fire he began to cook some barley which he had taken from a paper bag. In a few minutes he sat down to a dinner of cooked barley. I won his friendship by the aid of a twenty kopek piece, and with a little patience he was soon telling me of his adventures.

His father and mother had died during the war. He and his elder sister went to live with a maiden aunt in Moscow. All went well until the revolution, but then the aunt died, too. The sister was forced to shift for herself and was soon working in a textile factory. In 1921 they were on the verge of starvation. His sister wept often and long and was never well, yet she shared her food. He determined to help his sister by running away.

LIVED ON BARK, TWIGS

Back he drifted to the old home village, but conditions there were worse than in Moscow. For a time he lived on bark and twigs. He almost died, but in the end he was saved, riding under a train to Moscow. At the old address his sister was gone. No one knew where. Now, although he was only 15 he was an experienced adult. His barley cost him but a few cents a day. He slept in little outhouses, barns and in the asphalt heaters used in street paving. Occasionally he tried the railroad station but usually the police drove him out. Once they sent him to a children's home, but he loved this roving life and ran away within a week. He earned enough in a single day by carrying trunks and suitcases to buy food for seven. In the winter he went south to Turkistan.

There are thousands of such lads just such life stories. Like animals they have learned to shift for themselves and somehow keep from starving. This youngster did not confess to stealing, but many of the boys find adventure and fun in the gang life so common in American cities.

YOUNG PICKPOCKETS

One favorite trick is to pick out a rich foreigner who unconsciously displays a tempting watch or pocketbook. The entire gang saunters along until their victim is completely surrounded. Then like lightning one of them snatches the purse, instantly hands it on to another, he to a third, and all disappear in the crowd.

The orphaned children first became a problem following the terrible famine of 1921. They were the direct product of the World War, the Civil War, the allied intervention and blockade, and finally of the epidemics and famine. They came mostly from peasant districts; for statistics of the children's homes show that 55 per cent are peasant and 24 per cent workers. Thousands of families were completely wiped out by the famine. Other thousands sacrificed at any cost to keep the children alive. Often the parents starved and died that the children might live.

Ordinarily, neighbors or relatives would care for the orphans, but in 1921 when the entire village might be starving, there was nothing to give.

The result was that the children either died or learned to shift for themselves.

In 1922 the Russian government estimated that there were 7,000,000 such children. The only hope of the authorities at that time was to reach a first aid as would keep the children from dying. It was during this period that the American relief administration did such notable work.

By 1927 the number of these homeless waifs has been cut down to only 334,500. Many have died, others have found relatives, and still others have grown old enough to go to work. Russia proper is accountable for 309,000 of what remains.

HAVE 4,000 HOMES

To cope with this terrific problem the Russian government has today 4,000 homes caring for over 300,000 children. Besides these, there are 1,000 trade schools and 230 agricultural stations which are training 30,000 children.

I visited such a home near Moscow. The children learn how to work on the farm, but they are also given ordinary school subjects. In addition, there are courses in politics and Communism. Nearly all the children belong either to the pioneers or to the Comsomols—the two Communist youth organizations.

The children not only are taught theoretical Communism, but the entire institution was run on communist lines. The children elected their own committee which shared in the actual running of the institution. If a teacher was disliked they had the right to ask for another teacher. They could even propose and vote a holiday from studies on occasion.

CHILDREN SUPERVISE

Other children's committees supervised the household management, the library, and athletics, dramatics, and moving pictures. They also had a photo club and publish a newspaper every two weeks. Altogether their life is a happy one, but they do not yet receive a thorough educational training. In spite of the good times, there are many who like to run away and resume a roving life of adventure.

For these institutions the Soviet government spends sixty-five million rubles a year ($25,000,000). In some of the provinces about one-quarter of the entire educational budget goes for this purpose. A national children's commission operating under the central executive committee (which corresponds to our Congress) supervises this work. In addition nearly all the large cities and some of the villages have a "Friends of Children" society which collects money and keeps in touch with the homes. The press itself collects annually about 8,000,000 rubles in gifts.

LOTTERIES HELP

The government raises some of the money for the work through lottery and gambling devices. These are on display in certain of the summer theaters. One can spin wheels for boxes of candy, fish for dolls, or throw rings for other articles all the way from bottles of whisky to safety razors. Similarly there are horse races and betting carried on under the government permit. The Soviet permits this because it feels the newly rich and the speculators must have an outlet for their money and for their concept of a gay time. By having the government manage the fun, the orphaned children reap the reward. Such is their theory.

An army of half a million orphaned children are thus growing up in Russia. Some are being molded into dangerous thugs and brigands, others are being trained to be useful citizens although tainted with heavy doses of propaganda in the process. In view of the war, famine, revolution and pestilence which Russia has faced in the past decade, it is rather surprising to find this problem cared for even as it has been.

CREDIT OFFERED FOR SCOUT LEADER WORK

One More Valley Troop Registered; Reorganize Two Menasha Groups

Approval of the proposed leaders' training course for Boy Scout executives and leaders has been received by Milo C. Clark, valley scout executive, from the department of education of the national scout council. Recognition of the course by national headquarters means that every person taking it will be given official credit for work done. The course will begin Nov. 16 with three meetings in the high school gymnasium and three sessions at Menasha.

One more valley troop was registered this week according to Mr. Clark, when Troop 14 of the Congregational church of Menasha voted to seek recognition until May 1928. The committee in charge of the troop is composed of E. H. Schultz, H. M. Northrup, and H. L. Geer. John C. Lloyd is scout master.

Troop 9, Menasha, known as the Woodmen troop, also met Monday evening and presented its charter by the valley scout executive, who was a guest at the meeting. Scoutmaster McAndrews was given his commission.

Tuesday night Mr. Clark will meet with Troop 10, St. Mary church, and Troop 15, St. Patrick church, both of Menasha. Reorganization work and plans for the fall program will be presented at the meeting.

CHICAGO FIRM AWARDED GOLF COURSE CONTRACT

Contract has been let by the park board to the Chicago Landscape company for construction of a 9-hole municipal golf course in South park. The Chicago firm's bid for the complete job was $9,000, according to Prof. O. J. Fairfield, president of the park board.

The company will endeavor to build up and seed all the greens before winter sets in. The cost of such work will be paid with the $4,000 appropriation made several weeks ago by the common council.

Water pipes and drains will be installed by the Chicago firm but the city will have to provide an extension of the water mains to reach the golf links.

WILL PAVE RIVER-ST AND WISCONSIN-AVE

An item of $40,000 for paving in 1928 is included in a tentative "budget" prepared by the common council. The total allowance in the budget for paving during the past summer was $65,000.

Wisconsin-ave will be paved next year, according to the plans of the council. The only other paving job planned is that of W. Water-st, connecting Jackson and Drew-sts. The Jackson-st hill was paved during the past summer.

Sydney, N. S. W., will spend more than $60,000,000 on new buildings in the next year to anticipate the increase of population to 1,000,000.

Are you fighting against middle-age?

ONE OF the most critical periods of a woman's life comes between 45 and 50. Most women dread the approach of middle-age because they know, only too well, the depressing ailments it brings.

The best preparation for this period a woman can have is a good physical condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help her to gain strength and energy. It builds up the appetite and induces natural sleep. The following letters were written by women of middle-age.

AFTER LONG SUFFERING

South Omaha, Nebraska:—"After fifteen years of terrible suffering each month with sick headaches I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have felt my health steadily improving. After taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me. I also was troubled with nervousness. I am feeling fine now and do all my work myself. I am the mother of four, and manage an eight-room house without anybody to help. I feel that I am entirely well." Mrs. Adolph Bratke, 4316 South 13th St., So. Omaha, Nebraska.

Remember this package. None genuine without the signature of Lydia E. Pinkham.

MRS. ROLLERMAN'S CASE

West Hoboken, N. J.:—"I was troubled with headaches, weakness, flushes of heat to the face and head and loss of appetite. I would often get so weak I could hardly stand. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take the medicine. After the first few bottles I began to feel stronger and could eat better and had fewer headaches. I am a well woman today, and feel like a different person. You may use this letter for every word is true. I will answer any letters sent to me." Mrs. Jennie Rollerman, 611 E. Eleventh St., Union City, New Jersey.

Old Kentucky Quilts

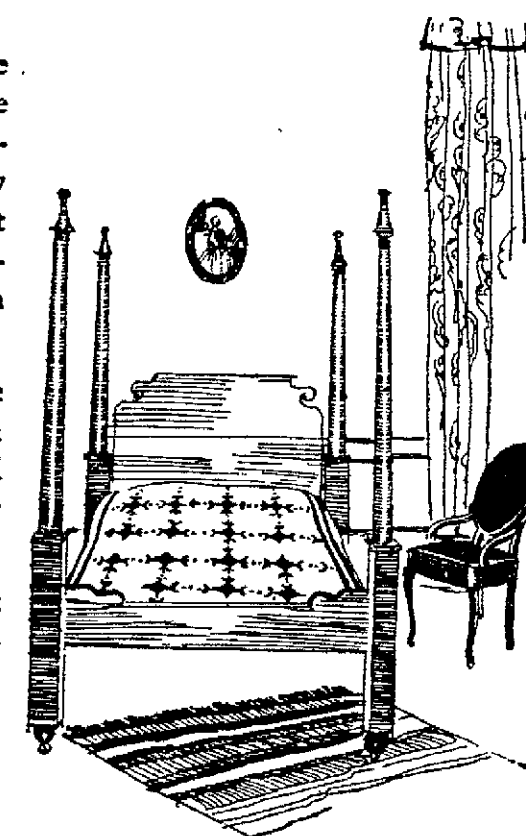

A new version of a rare old art

BRINGING THE COVETED CHARM OF THE COLONIAL PERIOD TO YOUR HOME

THE lure of the antique—the quest of the Colonial—the revival of the dignified simplicity that prevailed in Early America—these are dominant in the minds of interior decorators and home-loving women today.

At last it is possible to secure bed coverings that accord with this new enthusiasm for old things,—quilts to excite the envy of our grandmothers.

After long study of the finest old hand-made models, Old Kentucky Quilts have been developed. And they are offered at prices that make them available for every home.

Examine the four fascinating patterns today. Observe that the four washable colors are those most in vogue for decorative effects, and that the materials are those most favored for quilt making,—fine sateen and good soft-finished cotton cloth. The quilts are filled with fluffy new cotton. Sizes for both double and twin beds.

Each quilt is wrapped in an individual glassine paper package and every one is made under perfect sanitary conditions.

Old Kentucky Quilts have caught the romantic glamour of Early America. Needless to say, they lay an irresistible spell upon the rooms they adorn.
